

VOTERS APPROVE BONDS; TURNOUT AT POLLS SMALL

Virginia Beach voters gave their stamp of approval to two bond issues this week, one covering beach erosion and the other the extension of existing sewerage facilities.

A $900,000 bond issue to complete the Beach erosion work carried by a 3 to one vote, and the $300,000 sewerage issue was approved by almost 10 to one.

Voting was comparatively light, but nonetheless gave a clear indication that Virginia Beach citizens favored the progressive steps.

In the voting, the unofficial tabulation showed the beach erosion issue carried by 441 in favor and 139 against. The sewerage issue enjoyed a wider approval with 533 for and 58 against.

Breaking down the vote totals the picture was like this: Precinct One (City Hall) For Erosion control bond issue, 351; Against, 99. For the sewerage bond issue, 442; Against, 45.

At precinct two (1110 Pacific ave.) for erosion control issue, 90 against, 40; for sewerage issue, 111; against, 43.

The erosion control bond issue was originally voted by City Council, and according to law did not have to be put to a vote. However, the five-member Virginia Beach Erosion Commission requested that the public be allowed to vote on the issue.

The $900,000 will cover existing indebtedness for building up the Virginia Beach strand, amounting to between $600,000 and $700,000, now covered by short-term loans. The money is intended to pay for the work done last year, for seawalls, bulkheads, and landings along the shoreward side of the wall.

Since June, 1952, the Norfolk Dredging Company has pumped 1,247,000 cubic yards of sand from the Lake Wesley Lake, Bude area. Some of the sand was pumped at a cost of $424.30 per cubic yard, which was 17,000 feet or more than three miles from the source of sand supply.

The $300,000 sewerage bond issue is to extend the city's sewer system through South Virginia Beach, including two pumping stations. The heavy favorable vote of 422 at Precinct 1, in the southern half of the city, reflected local interest in the project.

Red Cross Drive To Be Extended

Despite the general enthusiasm of the early donors and the success of the first weeks of the 1953 fund drive, Princess Anne Chapter, American Red Cross, announced today a continuation of the month old drive until April 15th. At the final fund-raising luncheon Monday, H. A. Holt, campaign manager, announced that the $18,000 drive was lagging. He urged all division chairmen to spur collecting efforts and to turn in their collections as early as possible. Latest reports put collections at about $11,000.

The present slowness of the drive in this area represents a national trend. As E. Roland Harriman, president of the American Red Cross, said, $91,000,000 national drive also was slowness earlier this week that the slow.

"The campaign is moving slowly," Mr. Harriman told the 1,700 local chapters of the Red Cross. "Unless the pace improves, there is a likelihood that we will fall short of our goal."

Harold S. Kollman, chairman of Princess Anne County's American Red Cross Chapter, will preside at the monthly board meeting to be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the Community House. Results of the month long campaign fund and the record tending Blood Day will be discussed.

WATER BOND VOTE NEXT TUESDAY FOR NORTH END

Stanley States Program for Advancement

A broad program for advancing the Virginia economy, with particular emphasis on education and agriculture and without any increase in taxation, was revealed this week in the platform of Thomas B. Stanley, candidate for Governor of Virginia, subject to the Democratic primary in July.

Mr. Stanley prefaced his platform with the statement that "I am a staunch advocate of the fiscal policies that have provided safe and sound government in Virginia. I am aware of the great burden of federal taxation on the Virginia people and sincerely believe our Commonwealth can continue its great progress without an increase in taxation."

Characterizing public education as the State's most pressing problem, in that area and pledged his best efforts to solve them.

First, he advocated an increase in the present minimum and maximum salaries through additional State and Local funds. Second, a re-appropriation of Battle school funds for school construction so that localities that have not yet been able to use these funds may have the same share.

Third, a total program of planning so that Virginia's school system may be second to none in the nation, to be achieved through the State and localities providing funds in relation to their ability.

Pointing out that he has been a farmer all of his life, Mr. Stanley said he is personally acquainted with the viewpoint of the Virginia farmer. He advocated a program of research, education and marketing to strengthen the experiment station, the State Department of Agriculture and the various agriculture departments of high schools.

He promised to support more all-weather farm-to-market roads and favors an allocation for that purpose. He said he has wholeheartedly supported the rural electrification program and looks forward to the day when every farm family will have electricity and telephone service at reasonable rates.

Mr. Stanley advocated an improvement in State mental hospitals, with increased emphasis on preventive treatment. He said he had supported the Hill-Burton program under which community hospitals are constructed and stated he has consistently opposed specialized medicine.

Mr. Stanley advocated a continuance of the "sound, pay-as-you-go" system of highways and is opposed to any diversion of highway funds. He pledged himself to increase State activity in highway safety.

He promised to give "most careful consideration" to the recommendations of the Virginia Advisory Legislative Council which, with highways officials, are now studying the highway needs of Virginia.

Mr. Stanley pointed with "pride" to Virginia's extraordinary industrial growth and said that growth can be continued through the teamwork of public and private agencies and the Chamber of Commerce, which are engaged in industrial development without the need for establishing any new bureau, which could bring new taxes.

Residents of North Virginia Beach will go to the polls today, April 7, for a vote on a bond issue to build a $130,000 for installation of water meter mains that would give that section an adequate water supply.

Voters are asked to vote for or against the issue and are faced with two proposals of prospective routes the new mains would take as a result of a public hearing held recently in the Virginia Beach High School.

Princess Anne County officials have offered a proposal that would include a 12 inch main running from the pumping station at Lake and Beach and Virginia Beach Boulevard to Great Neck Road through Atlantic to 11th Street, across Linkhorn Bay, through Bay Colony and thence to 51st Street and a 12-inch main from 63rd Street to 99th Street.

County officials, with the aid of consulting engineers, point out that this is the most feasible routing of the proposed new mains and that the cost of the work would approximate $135,000. It would bring into the Virginia Beach system an additional supply of water.

At the public meeting, Virginia Beach Mayor P. F. Murray offered the city's plan which would place the new main through the city of Virginia Beach at a cost of approximately $290,000.

Engineers for the county contrast that to compare the two plans would necessitate an additional cost of laying the lines approximately 100 miles in the city proper, which would place the estimated cost of the city plan, they contend, at approximately $440,000.

V. Alfred Eberhart, executive secretary to the county board of supervisors, represented the county at the meeting and he pointed out that North Virginia Beach residents should decide which of the plans they favor and that if they approved the issue it was estimated that it would be completed by July 1, 1954.

At present the City of Virginia Beach owns the existing mains in North Virginia Beach and a county have to give approval if the county is to tap into these mains. It was pointed out.

The North Virginia Beach mains will be open 60 days for inspection of the residents and the plans will be determined.

The Woman's Club of the Station Chapel is holding its next meeting at Cavalier Hotel, with the Princess Anne Club acting as hostess. The last meeting was held at the Cavalier Hotel at Old Point Comfort, March 24, 1953. Some 410 guests, officers and members attended. Mrs. V. E. Wortham, President of the District, presided and the Chamber of Commerce, the Virginia Chamber of Commerce, the Virginia Legislative Council which, with highways officials, are now studying the highway needs of Virginia.

Limeight Again

The "Kellerman Girls" are in the limeight again for the first time in thirty-five years. Famous show girls of World War I, Rosella Fulton, Margaret Malone and Emily Forster make their first theatrical appearance since 1917 with Esther Williams in "Million Dollar Mermaid," paying at the Virginia Beach Drive in theatre.

The new Technicolor film was inspired by the life story of Annette Kellerman, the world's most famous bathing beauty, with whom the trio made their stage appearances at the New York Hippodrome. Known as the "Kellerman Girls," they were admitted from coast to coast because of their typical American beauty and perfect physical measurements.

The Red Cross is humanity in action. Give liberally.

April brings sunny warm days but it also brings April showers, making the whole nature world come alive. We think about a new look for our own wardrobe—but as homemakers, we think about a new book for our menus too and wonder just what we can do. Match our menus with the Spring spirit.

Spring dishes add glamorous touches to any meal. There are those gray red radishes, little white onions, crisp green lettuce and many other fresh vegetables and fruits that will just dress up our dishes and make our meal planning a real joy. Rainy day meals need a glamorous touch—so let's plan a Springtime meal. Its bristly goodness will bring a ray of sunshine to the tables and pocket-book too. Mince a little parsley in the pastry covering for your pie and it will be perfect for the steaming hot filling of meat, corn and vegetables. With your meat pie serve a fruit salad—hot rolls—and a fresh strawberry sundae.

Spring cakes like spring fashions must be glamorous. Color the frosting in beautiful spring shades—make flowers of marshmallows and gum drops—or after frosting a cake with fluffy white boiled icing—spill (so to speak) melted chocolate around the edge and let it run gracefully down over the sides—a few melted chocolate covered mints will even do the trick and give your frosting a delicate mint flavor.

Doll-up breakfast menus—just a little bit too. A really good coffee cake takes just a few minutes to make and your family will just love it. 'Twill certainly start the day off right for the entire family and appetites will come alive with these spring time coffee cakes for breakfast. Another suggestion is baked eggs in toast cups. Trim crusts from enriched bread and line muffin-cups. Cut a V-shape piece out of opposite sides of bread so the slice will fit in muffin cups easier. Put a piece of butter on each piece of bread, break egg in each cup—season and bake in hot oven.

For that easy coffee cake a Jiffy Coconut Ring

2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1-1/2 cup shortening
1 egg beaten
1-2 cup milk
Melted butter or Margarine

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly—Combine egg and milk and add to flour mixture and stir only enough to moisten flour. Turn on lightly floured bread board and knead shape about 1-4 inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine, spread with coconut filling—roll up like jelly-roll and form ring around on greased baking sheet. With scissors, cut the ring almost to center in slices 1 inch thick. Bake in 400 degree oven about 20 minutes.

To make coconut filling combine thoroughly:
1-2 cup shredded coconut
1-4 cup light brown sugar
1-4 cup finely chopped nuts
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine.

Sure do wish you all a happy, happy Easter—Bye now see you next week.

CIVIC PRIDE LACKING?
 As the saying goes "in the spring a young man's fancy turns to love," so it is with the city only the city seems to have its mind on cleanliness and beauty. Or, so it would seem by an order out of City Hall this week calling attention to a city ordinance that, if enforced, would greatly improve the sanitary condition of the city and would help keep Virginia Beach beautiful.
 Mayor Murray has issued an order to crackdown on those found guilty of violating a city ordinance pertaining to collection of garbage and handling of trash. The ordinance also includes vacant lots of unimproved property. The crackdown will come after April 15 so that everyone will have an opportunity to "get in line."
 The idea of enforcing the ordinance is a good one since there is an apparent lack of civic pride among the people of Virginia Beach. A city blessed with great natural beauty could be made the most beautiful city in America with a little effort on the part of its citizens.
 The city's plan to improve and preserve the natural beauty of the community comes at a time when the Council of Garden Clubs is planning a "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up" campaign. This group is planning to begin its campaign soon and it is a fine thing that the city is also striving toward the same end, that is, to make Virginia Beach cleaner and more beautiful.
 Everybody genuinely interested in Virginia Beach should cooperate to the fullest to insure the success of the progressive move of the city and the garden club group. It takes civic pride to make and keep a city beautiful. Virginia Beach needs more of that pride.

Local Methodist Men Perfect Organization

A new organization of Methodist men in the Virginia Beach Methodist Church, 10th and Atlantic Ave., has been chartered by the Virginia General Board of Lay Activities in Chicago.

The local group will become one of 10,000 Methodist Men organizations which the Board plans to charter by 1956.

It is estimated that 2,000,000 men in the Methodist Church are prospective members of Methodist Men.

According to Robert G. May, executive secretary of the Board, "We seek to mobilize through Methodist Men the tremendous power and enthusiasm of the men in every local church of Methodism."

H. Walton White is president of the newly formed group and E. Frank DeBerry, Jr., secretary.

The earliest known treatment of wood is described in the Bible, Genesis 6 to 14, wherein God charged Noah to build an ark and "pitch it within and without with pitch."

Lt. Erdman Serves On USS Cambria

The attack transport USS Cambria was in one of the largest combined naval operations ever conducted by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Mediterranean waters from March 17th to 25th.

Serving aboard is Navy Lt. Joseph J. Erdman, husband of Mrs. Gloria R. Erdman of Route 1, Virginia Beach, Va.

The Cambria was operating with naval land forces of England, France, Italy, Greece and Turkey in "Operation Rendezvous", an eight-day operation ranging from North Africa to the Southern Coast of France, from the coast of Italy to the island of Crete.

The large-scale combined operation, involving virtually every phase of offensive and defensive tactics, was a sea and amphibious exercise which also featured land-based air, submarine, motor-torpedo boat, carrier, cruiser, destroyer, escort and auxiliary units.

The operation culminated an amphibious "invasion" of Crete.

An oil well 5,000 feet deep was rare in 1925. Today, it is considered a relatively shallow hole because many modern wells are drilled to 12,000 feet and more. At least one test well has gone below 20,000 feet.

Little Theatre Play Will Be Seen At High School

The Little Theatre will present its final offering of the season at the new, acoustically perfect, comfortable auditorium of the Virginia Beach High School. After a thorough investigation and consultation with James A. Johnson, principal of the school, the Little Theatre Board, at a meeting held last Thursday, unanimously approved the move.

The numerous problems to be met, due to the difference in size and height of the stage from the one at the Community House, and the fact that no nails can be used to put up the set, present a challenge to the production committee, which under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Henry has already found a way to solve most of the problems.

Assisting Mrs. Henry are R. C. Penner and J. L. LaGiglia, and it is hoped that when the time comes for the actual work of moving and putting up the set, all members of the Little Theatre, as well as any one else who is interested, will come and lend a hand.

SPRING FLOWER SHOW PLANNED FOR 1954

The public is invited to attend a Spring Flower Show, sponsored by the Virginia Beach Garden Club, to be held in the Assembly Hall of the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, April 15th from 3 until 5.

"Out of the Frying Pan," the hilarious farce comedy by Francis Swann, which will be presented April 27-28, is now in rehearsal under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Masury. The cast includes such Little Theatre regulars as Ray and Peggy Penner, Conrad Little, Ann Henry, Liz Sills, Bill Lockhard, Mill Gietz, Lewis Reiney, and newcomers Ann McNamara and Francis Trumble and Conrad Little, Sr.

All members of the Little Theatre, including members of the Board, actors and backstage crew active in the theatre, and Season Ticket members, have been invited to attend a performance of "Bilbie the Spirit," Noel Coward's fantasy comedy, to be presented by the Naval Base Little Theatre on April 23rd. All those interested in attending are asked to telephone Mrs. Robert Henry 3169, not later than April 3rd.

Oceana 'Jets' Play Merriacs

It'll be a mighty familiar ring in the air to all baseball fans in the Virginia Beach area when they turn out to see the Oceana Naval Air Station Jets baseball team take on the Merriacs, formerly the Portsmouth Cubs, in an exhibition game for the benefit of the Navy Relief Society campaign.

The Jets and the Merriacs will clash on Saturday, April 11, at 2 p. m. at the Oceana Stadium. All are welcomed, admission free. Donations for the Navy Relief Society will be accepted at the game.

The Merriacs have made their appearance on the Air Station diamond, beginning their spring practice. They will hold practice for a few days with the Jets, and then meet them in a six-game series, highlighted by the Naval Relief game at the Oceana Stadium.

The Oceana Jets have started their season as they met the nine from William and Mary College, Norfolk division whom they beat 9-4 and the Navy team from DESLANT. The Jets scalped the DESLANT team 10-1.

In the game against the college team the Jets started their ace left-hander, Lefty Kelacava, who threw the horseshoe for the first four innings, striking out eight and not giving up a hit or a run. Lefty was followed by another left-hander, Mark Teitleman formerly under contract to the Cincinnati Reds, who pitched the next three innings. Teitleman gave up one hit and struck out seven men during his stay on the hill. Norm Shoemaker took over the chores on the hill for the last two innings, giving up one hit and allowing four runs to come across the plate. Norm, who is the possessor of a very fine knuckle ball was recently shifted from the outfield to his original position as a pitcher from where he worked throughout his school days.

Lefty Kelacava not only pitched a fine game but played havoc on college team each time he came to bat. Lefty came through with a triple and two singles. He was followed closely by his team-mate Joe Miranda, a great second-baseman who came through with two hits for four times at bat.

In the second game the Jets met the nine from DESLANT over on their diamond and beat them very soundly 10-1. Lt. Joe Gawtry befuddled the opposition with his stuff and crossed them every so often with a fast ball. Gawtry threw the first three innings allowing but one hit and no runs. He was followed to the mound by Mark Teitleman who struck out six men allowing four hits and one run. Norm Shoemaker took over the mound chores for the last two innings allowing no runs, no hits and striking out three.

D'Elegance, New Chrysler Coupe, Now on Market

Chrysler Corporation this week announced a classic in American automotive styling — D'Elegance, a fresh and original prototype two-passenger sports coupe. It will go on display for the first time at the Anti-Lite Easter Parade of Stars auto show in the Waldorf-Astoria on Saturday, April 4 through April 9.

D'Elegance is a functional automobile, as are the other Chrysler "idea cars," the K-310, the C-200 and the Chrysler "Special," which are setting a new American theme in passenger car design.

"The rule in developing D'Elegance, as well as the rule followed in developing the other three idea cars, was to allow Chrysler stylists and engineers complete freedom in their ideas so long as their ideas could be translated into a soundly engineered automobile," said Mr. A. VanderZee, vice president in charge of sales, Chrysler Corporation. "No decision has been reached to build it for sale at the present time. However, D'Elegance involves no materials that could not be used in volume production. Its Chrysler Fire-Power V-8 engine operates on standard fuel."

D'Elegance is creative engineering at its most imaginative, and yet practical, best."

D'Elegance embodies the continuing search by Chrysler stylists and designers to blend the continental feeling for simple unity along with the American demand for a vehicle which will travel great distances comfortably over varied terrain in the shortest possible time, according to Mr. VanderZee.

Most continental designs are not concerned with comfort, transportation, or luggage capacity, he pointed out. Maneuverability and class are their primary consideration. D'Elegance attempts to incorporate all these essentials for desirable American transportation.

Fertilizer Cause Of Stock Deaths

Fertilizer poisoning of livestock is caused mainly by carelessness—and it's not at all uncommon.

George Litton, head of the VPI animal husbandry department, cautions farmers to be careful in their storage and use of fertilizer to prevent such losses.

Once cattle or sheep eat a small amount of fertilizer containing a nitrate death usually results in a few hours. Symptoms of fertilizer poisoning include depression, weakness, vomiting, diarrhea, and bloating. A veterinarian should be called at once when fertilizer poisoning is suspected. He may be able to cut losses if he treats the animals early.

The best treatment is prevention, Litton says. Store fertilizers in a safe place where livestock cannot get at them, preferably in a room or shed which can be locked.

"One for all and all for one"

This famous motto of the Three Musketeers brought them safely through many adventures. Usually they were able to survive great peril only by dramatic teamwork. Of course, their adventures were purely fictional, but teamwork can give real-life drama a happy ending too. Lives can be saved by considerate party-line users who give up their lines to others in an emergency.

Do it the easy way

Remember the story of the fellow who loaded his mule with a sack of potatoes on one side and balanced it with a sack of stones on the other. He made many trips this way until someone suggested that it might be more efficient to balance the first sack with another sack of potatoes.

There's a more efficient way to make Long Distance calls, too. When you give the operator the telephone number, instead of just the name and address of the person you want, your call goes through faster.

LATE POTATOES PRODUCE MORE

Later varieties of Irish potatoes, such as the Kennebec, tend to be more productive than some of the earlier varieties when they are grown properly, says George Williams, an associate horticulturist at VPI.

In deciding on the variety of potato to plant, remember that effective insect control on the later varieties is an important bearing on their production. The Kennebec, blight-free, smooth, and of good shape, is very promising for a second early crop, and even for a fall crop to be planted in July, if spraying is not neglected.

George Williams, associate horticulturist at VPI, says these paper hotcaps, which are made of translucent paper and admit a good deal of light, serve as day greenhouses. They are most useful for the vine crops such as melons, cucumbers, and squash, and for tomatoes, peppers and eggplants.

SUPER ATOMIC

On May Day, America will celebrate Child Health Day for the twenty-fifth time since this occasion was made official by Congress, and which occurs, logically enough, during the observance of National Baby Week. Commemorative, we understand, will also parade and whorl and roller as usual in our big cities on May Day.

At the same time, we can expect the record-breaking 1952 crop of 3,889,000 babies to be doing some howling too — which ought to down out the Reds — especially since we never knew a baby who was a communist. In fact, as your editor can tell you, the average baby is the dardest free-enterpriser we have. Collectively, babies provide the great American grocer with 8,000,000 of his most important customers. Now-a-days they demand their own special food — and lots of it. Every day the Gerbers people, whose huge factories produce nothing else, put on earloads of strained baby foods, chopped junkies and special cereals for the very small fry. Now they've even got special non-crumbly biscuits for teething, patterned (you guessed it) after puppy biscuits.

And these same squirming, snuzzling, squalling and squealing millions are big business for the drugist and all of Main Street. Toy factories work overtime to amuse them. Furniture factories make an ever-increasing variety of bassinets and cribs and tables and chairs and dressers and wardrobes to fit their dimensions and tastes. (That's right, you can get the paint without a pain.) Miss America 1970 has more dress-makers than Paris, and her brother has a nobby wardrobe too. And you know about the boom in the baby-sitter industry.

According to Dan Gerber, who ought to know, babies are America's not-so-secret weapon, and Child Health Day a national recognition of one most important job. This anniversary, which is also Gerber's twenty-fifth, is a good time to realize that babies are what makes families, and families are what make a strong nation, not just in numbers, but in spirit and in mutual devotion to each other and to the liberty that allows growth.

WE CONTINUE FORWARD

The people of Virginia Beach are to be congratulated for their overwhelming approval of the recent $900,000 bond issue for completion of the beach restoration project and the $300,000 issue extending sewerage lines in south Virginia Beach.

The stamp of approval given by the voters is another indication of the progressive thinking on the part of Virginia Beach citizens. It is this type thinking that makes a community stand out among its sister communities, and Virginia Beach does just that.

Work is already progressing to give a new look to the seawall and walkway and Virginia Beach's beautiful oceanfront. Making the necessary funds available through the bond issue assures continued growth for Virginia Beach.

This work on the oceanfront and additional sewerage lines in south Virginia Beach coupled with the fine beautification work being done by the Council of Garden Clubs in North Virginia Beach and the city's current drive to keep the city clean needs now only strong civic pride on the part of each and every citizen to maintain the forward progress that Virginia Beach is enjoying.

Within the past two years Virginia Beach has demonstrated its desire to move forward and to continue this movement requires a solid citizenry with the community's welfare placed above all other factors.

DALE CARNEGIE

Charles C. Leggett, 181 E. 21st Street, Evansville, Indiana, says he is making considerable progress in overcoming worry in his everyday work. He had always had the worrying habit, but after reading a common sense sort of book on worry he decided to try two suggestions he found in it for preventing worry and fatigue.

One was to do things in the order of their importance. The other was to collect the necessary facts and make immediate decisions.

These two suggested habits he followed on his own. He bought a pocket size book and notebook to keep notes of each transaction or job that he handled each day. In his book he has to keep up with many small details. All orders, make estimates, and other parts. Previously he had always tried to remember all the details, but now he would make notes on small pieces of paper and keep them close at hand, later having them through three or four pockets of his coat or in his pocket.

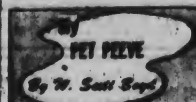

By applying these habits he has gained confidence in himself because he has succeeded in increasing his efficiency and decreasing his worrying.

HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

Paper cut-outs are one way to cut out mistakes in house planning. By placing small scale paper replicas of furniture and equipment on a scaled layout of the house, a family may see how their furnishings will fit and avoid using a plan with wrong sized or badly arranged rooms.

Of forest fires in 1951, careless smoking caused more than twice as many configurations as any other single cause.

MURDER IN THE BACK YARD

I like to do my suffering in private. But I've found it impossible to do so when you're waiting your turn in a doctor's office. I had a golfing date the other day.

Yalta Conference through the Pantheon true talks we know that the Communists have no regard for their pledged word. If Malenkov decides to end the Korean war and to ease the Cold War in Europe, it will be more logical to assume that he is using that device to end the rearmament program of the free world and cause a division over the resulting economic strains and stresses that would be a fertile field for Communist propaganda than to assume that the Politburo has abandoned the Lenin-Stalin conception of world domination.

If we fail to get peace in Korea on honorable terms in the near future, I hope our President, his Cabinet and the Congress will agree that we cannot afford to gamble with the destiny of this nation by giving up the restraining influence of potent armed forces in return for what is euphemistically called "better instead of guns." Former Speaker Rayburn of the House has assured President Eisenhower that he will support any defense program which the President deems necessary for our safety. And so will I.

Last week was the anniversary of the supreme sacrifice made for mankind by the Prince of Peace. Nearly two thousand years ago He gave the world a plan for peace but the world-wide lack of faith in that plan was deflected in the cynical remark of Stalin to Roosevelt at Yalta when Roosevelt referred to the Pope's influence among his Catholic followers. "How many divisions does the Pope have?" asked Stalin. Stalin had respect for physical force and so does his successor, Malenkov. Realizing that our nation would from time to time be confronted with rulers of that type George Washington said: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effective means of preserving peace."

WASHINGTON . .
AS VIEWED BY YOUR SENATOR
A. Willis Robertson

NATIONAL SAFETY NEEDS SHOULD HAVE PRIORITY

Participation in a nation-wide television broadcast last week gave me an opportunity to point out the difficult choice now facing us of deciding how best to protect ourselves from atomic bomb attacks.

All military experts are agreed that the Russians have such bombs and an Air Force capable of dropping them in the United States. There is agreement too that we have no adequate defense now against such an attack.

The civil defense advocates are urging construction of bomb shelters to minimize the danger of attack while military leaders urge that emphasis be placed on radar screens, interceptor planes and anti-aircraft guns, including the new NIKE jet-propelled rocket which can reach any plane that flies, is faster than any plane that flies and can follow the plane any way it may twist or dodge. A demonstration of its remarkable destructive power will be conducted this month in New Mexico. Either course will involve tremendous expenditures but either, in my opinion, would be better than the cheaper choice of assuming that the Russians never will start World War III and that we can, therefore, afford to cut defense appropriations to balance the national budget this year.

Every member of Congress knows how unpopular the current tax burden is and how politically expedient it would be to cut taxes. It is my earnest hope, however, that the Congress will not yield to that temptation before we know the real intent of the new Russian leadership. We know that Malenkov is a faithful follower of Stalin and of Lenin, both of whom repeatedly said Communism and Capitalism could not live at peace in the same world. The peace gestures made by Malenkov in recent weeks have been words only. He has the power to stop the fighting in Korea whenever he sees fit, but by bitter experience from the

"Well," she snorted. "You don't look it. If you're feeling so good what are you doing here?"

"That's rather a personal question," says I.

"Oh, a hypochondriac," says she.

"All right, madam," says I. "If you must know, they think I have leprosy."

"You poor man," says she. For a while she is silent and then began to squirm and cast side-long glances toward me.

"Did you say leprosy?" says she.

"Yes, ma'am," says I. "Ain't it awful?"

She squirmed in her seat for a few moments and continued to lean away from me until she had a 45 degree list to port.

The nurse laughed. "I've always considered you a bad influence on the doctor," says she, but I think this has changed my mind.

"What about her?" says I.

"Nothing wrong with her," says the nurse. "Just the biggest hypochondriac in town."

"I don't think I can wait any longer," says she to the nurse. "I'd better come back tomorrow." She almost jumped from her chair after that statement and scrambled.

Chip Hanson is a clever commercial artist. Beside doing cartoons on our paper, he picks up "free lance" drawing jobs.

Right now he's whipping up posters for the Safety Campaign. They all have headlines like "PLAY IT SAFE! . . . OR 'A LIVE WIRE CAN START A FIRE!'"

Chip looked a bit sheepish yesterday. Didn't want to tell me why. Finally he blurted out, "I feel like a dope. Here I am on this safety program and the fire inspectors tell me my own studio's a fire trap. I've been staring paint there for years . . ."

30 Hours to Paris Gives Inside of Of Historic Hop

Announced by the editors of the Supper Evening Post as "the literary event of 1953," the Charles A. Lindbergh autobiography of the first non-stop trans-Atlantic flight, "30 Hours to Paris," begins this week in that publication.

Trans-ocean flights today are so routine that the difficulties encountered in the preliminaries to this first flight are today hard to imagine.

But in 1926, when the daring flight idea first came to Lindbergh as he was flying the mail on the St. Louis-Chicago run in a beat-up biplane bought from army salvage for a few hundred dollars, the idea was perhaps more startling and fraught with financial barriers and danger than a contemplated flight to the moon would be in 1953.

The idea was not original with Lindbergh. Others had already tried it. Some had paid with their lives, attempting to win the Orteig prize of $25,000 offered for the first non-stop crossing of the Atlantic. What type of plane would be best suited? How much gasoline would be needed? How much could this or that plane carry and get off the ground with? Where would the money come from to buy the plane? To finance the flight? One engine plane? Two or three engine plane? Dozens and dozens of questions—all to be solved, and fast, if he was to be first to make the crossing.

"30 Hours to Paris" brings to light all the details—fascinating to read—of this famous, record-shattering flight, which gave to aviation its big impetus.... Its first "seven league" step toward what flying is today, and what is future, and what it will be in the future.

We have had the pleasure of read-

CHAS. LAUGHTON TO BE IN NORFOLK

Charles Laughton comes to the Center theater in Norfolk on Wed., April 15, presenting his now famous "An Evening with Charles Laughton," a series of readings from modern and other literary classics, under the management of Paul Gregory.

Patrons of the Laughton "Evenings" all over the United States have invariably clamored for a return engagement of the star's one-man show, an indication of what a popular entertainment feature the readings have become. Laughton is, in fact, credited by Life Magazine, Time, the Atlantic Monthly, and other publications, as well as by well-known newspaper reviewers, with having created a new trend in entertainment with his readings.

ing from an advance copy of the post the first installment of this "mind's eye" view of the flight by Lindbergh himself. It more than lives up to its billing.

"Call Me Lucky," the Crosby story, caused a sell-out of the Post for weeks recently. We confidently predict that "30 Hours to Paris" will create an even greater demand.

Rural Mail Box Gets Own Week

The Post Office Department has designated the week ending April 18, 1953, as Rural Mail Box Improvement Week.

Rural mail boxes which are not properly erected or in good serviceable condition retard the delivery of mail and expose it to damage from weather.

It is the desire of the Department to encourage patrons of the rural delivery service to provide suitable mail receptacles and to erect them so they will be readily accessible to the carrier and present a neat appearance.

It is especially desirable that the boxes be maintained in a condition that will assure proper protection to mail placed therein, that the names of box owners be inscribed on the side of the boxes visible to the carrier as he approaches them, and that the boxes and their supports be kept painted. Patrons who have unapproved boxes of old-type, revolving door or other type are not required to discard them provided the boxes have been in use by the present owners for several years and are maintained in good, serviceable condition. Any boxes not of the present standard type which are of such design that they cannot be properly served by the carrier from his vehicle or are in such condition as not to protect the mail, should be replaced with boxes of the approved types. Boxes, regardless of type, should, of course, be of such design and such condition that there will be no likelihood of the carrier's being injured when serving them.

N & W Income Shows Decline

A decline in Norfolk and Western gross income of over eleven million dollars, of five percent, in 1952 over 1951 was attributed in the railway's 1952 Annual Report issued today largely to the long steel strike, lesser demand for export coal and intermittent stoppages in coal production.

The road reported gross income of $208,959,899 and a balance of income, after deduction of operating expenses, taxes, sinking funds and other charges, of $28,149,344. Balance of income decreased four percent over the previous year.

Bituminous coal tonnage, which accounted for 72.47 per cent of all freight tonnage, was 46,496,000 tons, or 11.8 percent less than 1951. The volume of other freight declined 7.2 percent but the revenue of $70,887,748 represented an increase of four per cent for a new high for freight traffic other than coal because of a rate boost granted railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission in April, 1952.

The ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues rose from 66.92 per cent in 1951 to 70.83 per cent in 1952. The report attributed this rise in operating ratio to higher labor and material costs and to interruptions in operations, due principally to the strikes in the steel industry.

Passenger revenues were down ten per cent over 1951's $100,000,000.

perns and miscellaneous revenues were off three per cent to $9,427,620. The report noted that expenditures during the year for property improvement and equipment amounted to $28,814,000. This brought the total of such expenditures, completed or authorized since 1945 to over two hundred and six million dollars, all made from the Norfolk and Western treasury.

Rosy Apple Aphid Niece of President Eisenhower Chosen Spray Controlled Queen of Shenandoah Apple Festival

A paratition of benzene hexachloride spray applied when the buds are in the "pink" will give satisfactory control of the rosy apple aphid.

W. S. Hough, entomologist at the Winchester branch of VPI Agricultural Experiment Station, says the standard recommendation to control the aphid call for the use of dinitro insecticide to destroy the eggs in the dormant spray. This recommendation doesn't fail if proper amounts of the spray are thoroughly applied when the apple buds are dormant.

However, growers who for some reason failed to apply the dormant spray still have another chance to control the pest.

Hough said his experiments indicated that 1 pound of 15 percent parathion powder, or 2 pounds of benzene hexachloride (BHC 10 percent gamma) in 100 gallons of water applied in the "pink" spray resulted in not less than 95 percent control.

DEHORN NOW, EXPERT SAYS

A reminder to farmers to dehorn calves now before turning them out comes from Curtis Mast, animal husbandman at VPI.

Mast says to dehorning pastures from day of birth to two weeks of age; dehorning tubes from two weeks to two months of age; Barnes dehorners from two months to five months; or electric dehorners, the age of the calf depending on the size of the instrument head.

Family Problem Experts to Meet

Experts in family problems and other aspects of social welfare from seven states and the District of Columbia will head the eleven institutes planned for the first two days of the annual meeting of the Virginia Conference of Social Work in Roanoke, April 28 through May 1. It was announced today by Raleigh C. Hobson, president of the conference.

Hobson, director of welfare for the city of Richmond, said that the two-day institutes have been planned to include volunteers and other interested workers as well as professional social workers, and that for the first time, those who work with inmates of correctional institutions will be included in plans for the institutes.

The institutes were planned under the direction of Mrs. Helen Wright, chief public health social worker of the Richmond public health department.

"Of particular interest to ministers, lawyers and others dealing with family problems," Mrs. Wright said, "is the institute on excessive drinking and their families." This meeting, she said, will be conducted by Dr. Ruth Fox, director of the Alcoholics Treatment Center, in New York City.

Celebrities Lend Talents to Show

Six celebrities from the bright lights of Hollywood and Broadway will lend their talents to the big vaudeville show erected by Ed Sullivan and sparked by Navy talent to be given at the Navy Relief Society Ball, April 11, 1953, at Rockwell Hall, U. S. Naval Amphibious Base. They will also make personal appearances at the world premiere of the movie "ITANK".

Charles Coburn, Jeffrey Hunter, Debra Paget, Ann Francis, Audrey Dalton, and Mitzi Gaynor are among the headlines arriving to spark the festivities supporting the Navy Relief Society.

State Chamber Honoring SCC

The Virginia State Chamber of Commerce plans to pay tribute to the State Corporation Commission when the Chamber holds its annual meeting at the Hotel Chamberlin, Old Point Comfort, April 16 and 17.

The announcement that the Chamber would honor the State agency — this year celebrating its fiftieth anniversary — was made today by West Faulkner, of Glasgow, president of the Virginia Chamber.

Faulkner said the SCC would be cited for its outstanding service over the past 50 years at the Business Outlook Luncheon of the annual meeting to be held April 16. The award will be made to W. Marshall King, chairman of the three-man commission. Two other members of the commission, H. Lester Hooker and Ralph T. Catterall, will be present for the ceremonies.

Garlic Control in Virginia Vacationland Covered Milk Production In 40-Station Television Show

Control wild garlic in milk either through proper management of the dairy herd, or by killing infestation in the pastures.

Guy J. Nageotte, associate dairy husbandman at VPI, says little can be done to remove the obnoxious flavor from milk once it is there. Consequently much milk is being returned from dairy plants to the farmer.

Control through herd management practices consists of pre-grazing of pastures by young stock and dry cows, followed by controlled grazing of milking herd. If a dairyman removes his cows from the pasture 3 to 4 hours before milking, he will prevent much of the garlic flavor from getting in the milk.

Wild garlic in pastures can be killed by spraying with 2.4-D. However, don't use 2.4-D on legume pastures as it will kill legumes. Effective kill of wild garlic normally requires three sprayings. The first spray should be applied in the early spring, the second in the fall, and the third the following spring. The concentration to use is pint of 2.4-D to 10 gallons of water per acre.

MILK PRODUCTION CONTINUES UPSPRING

Milk production continued at a record breaking mid-winter rate as the seasonal up-swing got well under way in February.

Virginia production was up 10 percent, making a record February production of 138 million pounds. This is 13 million pounds more than February, 1952 production.

A salute to the Commonwealth of Virginia as one of America's outstanding vacation areas will be seen by millions of television viewers over a coast-to-coast NBC-TV network during the week of April 5th to 11th.

Virginia will be featured in the National Capital Tour when John Cameron Swayze and his family tour these areas in the new television series, "Vacationland America".

More than forty TV stations across the nation and in Canada will televise the vacation tour of the Swayzes, actually filmed in parts of Virginia several months ago, promoting vacation travel in this state. These areas in the new television series are WTVR-TV in Richmond, WNRW-TV in Washington, D. C., WBAL-TV in Baltimore, and WSAZ-TV in Huntington, West Virginia.

An additional left for Virginia's tourist business will be given by the Franchiser Corporation, sponsor of "Vacationland America," who have prepared a travel book outlining a complete day-to-day tour through this area.

More than 100,000 of these free travel books will be distributed by 120,000 travel dealers in the United States and Canada, giving further impetus to Virginia's recreation and tourist business which brings millions of dollars into the state each year.

A formal presentation of a special plaque to Governor John S. Battle will be made by Franchiser, saluting Virginia as "Vacationland America" State of the Week, prior to the TV broadcast.

In a special statement issued before accepting the "Vacationland America" plaque, Governor Battle emphasized that "Virginia invites family.

the nation to join our own citizens in the enjoyment of the great wealth of history and scenic attractions which this Commonwealth is endowed."

"The Old Dominion offers a variety of shrines and vacation spots unsurpassed in the United States," said Governor Battle.

"The story of our development as a nation is vividly recalled by the battlefields of Yorktown where our independence was assured; Williamsburg, now restored to its Colonial beauty, and Charlottesville, the home of Thomas Jefferson and the University of Virginia which he founded. These are only a few of the interesting places to be seen in this cradle of American Democracy," continued the Governor in his statement.

In speaking for the people of Virginia Governor Battle stated that he was "delighted to welcome our guests from other states," and of appreciation of the opportunity of acquainting visitors with Virginia's vacation areas.

The presentation of the "State of the Week" plaque is expected to be made in Richmond on several days before the nationwide "Vacationland America" show, including Virginia, is shown before Virginia and Canadian TV audiences.

The choice of John Cameron Swayze to star in the travel promotion program about Virginia adds to the entertainment value of the program. As NBC's top TV newscaster, Mr. Swayze is seen on television each week by more people than any other person in the world.

"Vacationland America" also marks the TV debut of the Swayze family.

IT'S FUN TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK

Food Editor

See "Let's Cook" every Monday through Friday at 12:45 on WTAR-TV

I don't like to pass on so many facts about beef, this week. The U. S. Department of Agriculture sent me some very interesting information about it.

Beef is plentiful. That's surely good news to millions of us homemakers. It means we can include beef on our menus more often, for when foods are plentiful, they are more economical.

Record numbers of cattle coming to market have brought beef prices in recent weeks to the lowest point they have been in many years. The large supply of lower prices caused the U. S. Department of Agriculture to put beef on its April monthly food lists, for the first time in the 15 year history of its information program.

The Department is cooperating with the livestock and meat industry in a program to tell homemakers of the plentiful supply of beef available and how they can get the most for their meat dollar. This program will continue through several weeks. A concentrated effort is being made to help steady beef cattle prices!

Newspapers, magazines and radio and television stations and other groups are helping to get this information to the consumer. With the largest number of cattle in history now on our farms, we are not likely to run short of beef in the next year or two, under normal conditions.

It takes from 2 to 3 years to raise and fatten a beef animal for market. Cattle that are put in the feed lots and given concentrated ration are the ones that furnish our higher grade cuts of beef. They make up a large percentage of the numbers coming to market now. Grass-fed cattle provide most of the lower grade cuts. There is plenty of all grades of beef on the market now.

Whether it be lower-priced or more expensive cuts that people want—they will be able to find them in retail markets today. The greatest drop in prices has come in the lower cost cuts which makes them particularly economical to buy. These cuts are just as nutritious as the higher-priced roasts and steaks; the principal difference is that they usually are not as tender. But that simply means the method of cooking must be varied and then the results will be most satisfactory.

Beef is popular with the whole family, usually and beef contains nutrients needed by all ages. It provides good quality protein, important to body building and repair. Lean beef also is a valuable source of B vitamins and of phosphorus and iron. Even the least expensive cuts contain all of these food values. Liver is excellent as a blood builder because of its iron and copper content.

Proper storage of beef in the home is important. Fresh beef should be stored, loosely covered, in the coldest part of the refrigerator and should be used within a few days. Variety of meats such as liver are especially perishable and should be used within two days. Ground beef should be kept only one day unless frozen. Families with home freezers may find this a good time to stock those freezers with beef.

Round steak with onions are a favorite with most men. How about giving hubby a real treat?

1 lb. round steak cut 1 inch thick
Salt pepper, flour
1 or 2 large onions (sliced)

Season steak—sprinkle generously with flour and pound on both sides with the edge of a dinner plate until flour and seasoning is well beaten into steak.

Cut into serving pieces and brown in hot fat in frying pan—

Merry Matrons

By ALICE

"I have never been bored in my life," said the late Queen Mary to a friend. Perhaps that was the keynote to her wonderful curiosity about things; throughout her long and interesting life. She had remarkable understanding of how things worked which was part of the thoroughness that was so natural to this great Queen. In knowing these things, keeping interested in learning something new each day, she accumulated a tremendous store of knowledge which she gathered in all through her life. Her enthusiasm kept her young and interested. Surely this is a good pattern for merry matrons to follow. If she had not been born a Princess, she could have chosen almost any career for herself, even in an age when careers for women were far fewer than they are today. She would have been brilliantly successful in whatever field of endeavor she chose, you can be sure of that.

Queen Mary had an active dislike for disorderliness and it may be an outstanding example of thrift. She never wasted anything! For example, every piece of knitted string, however intricate, was patiently unraveled and rolled into a tidy bundle, usually with her own hands, and placed beside other tidy bundles in a drawer set aside for that special purpose. Every piece of creased wrapping paper was folded away for further use and every crumpled sheet of tissue paper got the same care. Queen Mary's tidiness and neatness was apparent in her attire. Did you ever see a photo of her when she didn't have that neat-as-a-pin, just stepped-out-of-a-handbag, well-groomed appearance? Many a merry matron could take a good grooming tip from this grand Old Lady of England.

Mrs. A. J. Kerueles attended every session of the Beach's Merry Matrons Fashion Clinic, sponsored by the YWCA of Norfolk, at the Commodore Hotel. She demonstrated Easter bonnets for Madame Elias of the Center Shops and brought about quite a controversy in reference to whether hats should be tilted by matrons or not. She can wear them tilted in fine fashion.

Mrs. D. L. Overby, "Bunny" to her friends, is a typical Dagsmat and "Blondie" charmer. Cute as a button and unbelievably young for the mother of two and seven years of age. Mrs. Joseph C. Addington does not belong to a garden club but can whip up a flower arrangement that is plenty pleasing to the eye. She says she just "does what comes naturally" in her with flowers and they turn out most attractive and with none of those worries that garden club gals have when they're arranging according to what the judges would approve. It's refreshing to see short hair-do has been the topic of her arrangements.

Mrs. Janet Carlton's new Dowdy short hair-do has been the topic of much chattering and should prove that there is no comparison when it comes to a neat, short, youthful hair-do or a long, straggly grey boy bowl. It's a much more becoming style when trying on new hats, too.

Mrs. Lewis E. Smuthe, president of the Scout Leaders Club, is most enthusiastic about the African violet plants her young Girl Scouts are raising. Along her eyes just sparkle when she's bragging about her young "gardeners."

Mrs. E. C. Mansfield's homemade chocolate cake recipe could easily take off with any top prize for delicious eating. All of which reminds you Alice she'd better stop dreaming about such things or she'll never diet away those "required thirty" pounds!

Turn often so it does not burn and do not cook too fast—Remove steak from pan and fry onions—when onions are tender—blend in little flour and brown—season with salt and pepper and all about 11-2 cup water—cook until gravy thickens—Four over steak or serve in gravy bowl.

Thicken gravy if you would like using 1 to 2 tablespoons flour blended in 1-2 cup cold water and stir until stew thickens—add more seasoning if needed and if you like dash of chili sauce and grated horseradish—Bye-bye see you next week.

Cuts in the scalp often bleed more freely than cuts in other parts of the body.

HAT TO APPEAR WITH WIDER BRIMS

Spring-summer hats are prettier than ever! They're more feminine than they have been for several seasons, too. Milliners are sold on the idea of larger brims in sheer fabrics and straws. They are paying much attention to pretty, colorful trimming, most especially the great profusion of flowers used. Texture interest continues important, too.

Nubby straws, variety of flower petals layer upon layer, jewel and wooden beading on smooth straws and combinations of two or three fabrics are ways of achieving surface interest.

Gov. Battle Urges Support of Cancer Society Drive

Governor John S. Battle urged Virginians to support generously the Virginia Division of the American Cancer Society's 1953 Cancer Crusade and to learn "as much about cancer as possible" in an effort to protect themselves against the disease.

In a statement released this week, the Governor said:

"Within the boundaries of this state last year, 3,934 homes lost loved one to cancer, and there is a likelihood that the number of victims during 1953 will even exceed this number. Such a burden of tragedy compels our most earnest attention.

"Such widespread disease as cancer requires a concerted effort of government, the medical profession, and in fact all our citizens to combat it. Through programs of education, research, and service many lives have already been saved and many more could be saved.

"The president of the United States has proclaimed April as a month for special action against this distressing problem, and as Governor of Virginia, I urge every citizen of this state to observe the occasion by learning as much about cancer as possible and by supporting the 1953 Crusade of the Virginia Division, American Cancer Society, Inc., during Cancer Control Month."

Old Dominion Cancer officials have previously announced Virginia's 1953 quota as $275,000 to be spent on education, service, and research during the year. Major part of the three-phase 1953 program includes a stepped-up public education program to acquaint people with cancer's early danger signals so that competent medical advice can be sought before it is too late.

The red herring derived its figurative sense of something used to divert attention from the main issue because English fox hunters discovered that hounds would abandon the trail of a fox and follow that of a red herring dragged along the ground.

Bicycle Safety Rules Laid Down

Obedience to basic bicycle safety rules by cyclists young and old will reduce accident figures, John B. De Voe, Pres. of the Tidewater Auto. Assn., said today coincident with the release of the April kit of AAA safety education materials stressing bicycle safety to area schools.

"It has often been said that today's bicyclist will be tomorrow's motorist," the Club official continued. "Concomitantly the practice of sound safety habits by cyclist is a foundation for becoming a careful motorist. However, sound cycling practices are valuable not only as a long-range measure but will make present-day motoring safer and more pleasant."

"Biking" on a bike, weaving in and out of traffic, etc. distract and distract motorists. Not only are the cyclists endangering their own lives by these bad practices, but they can disrupt normal traffic flow and possibly cause bad pile-ups."

Mr. De Voe listed the following basic safety rules for safe enjoyable cycling:

1. Always ride on the right side of the street.
2. Don't stunt or weave.
3. Don't carry passengers.
4. Ride in creek file.
5. Stop for red lights and stop signs.
6. Don't hitch onto autos, trucks, or street cars.
7. Avoid riding after dark. If it is necessary, however, make certain your lights and reflector are in good condition.
8. Know and OBEY all traffic laws, which apply to bicyclists as well as motorists.

A poster, "Avoid Weaving In and Out of Traffic," one of the winning posters in the 8th National School Safety Poster Contest, will be exhibited in local schools this month in conjunction with the AAA safety education program. It was drawn by Susan Nite, Recreation Center High School, Hoboken, New Jersey.

Hen's Egg Plays Role in Medicine

The ordinary hen's egg, so popular on America's breakfast tables, is playing a vital role in medical scientists' efforts to eradicate many virus-caused diseases.

Scientists at Lederle Laboratories, Division, American Cyanamid Company, Pearl River, N. Y., use over 14,000,000 eggs a year in researching and producing modified live virus vaccines.

Already on the market are modified virus vaccines to immunize dogs against distemper and rabies, mink against distemper, and poultry against several killing diseases.

The egg may eventually play an important part in combating crippling polio. Late last year, Lederle scientists announced that they had been able to grow a modified strain which depends to a extent on the condition of the turner opener, particularly if it is of the runner type. It should, therefore, be checked carefully.

Also, check the condition of the cut-off ports and the knock-out fingers in the hopper and replace parts if necessary.

Formerly, in Princess Anne County you they will all do well to heed and follow the above instructions in regard to speed of tractor, adjusting plow, etc. Top yields cannot be produced with improper planting or from poor stands.

of polio virus is the hen's egg. If an egg produced vaccine for polio can be perfectly produced, would hardly be a problem, since eggs are always in good supply.

It is only right that chickens should benefit from their handiwork. Vaccines for three deadly poultry diseases—fowl pox, Newcastle disease, and fowl myxomatosis—are produced in embryonated hen's eggs. So in one sense, you can say that the egg is protecting and insuring future generations of eggs. These three diseases, annually inflict millions of dollars in losses among the nation's chicken and turkey crops.

Production of these vaccines, now that the years of hard research and millions of dollars have been spent, seems a simple thing. The procedure is this: a skilled worker uses a special drill to make a tiny hole in the shell of the fertile egg, taking care not to break the membrane. Through this opening, some of the live virus is injected with a needle, and the hole is immediately sealed with collodion. The eggs are then placed in a huge incubator and the virus allowed to multiply. Before hatching, the shells are tapped and the fluids removed. From these the vaccines are made.

It's a long and tedious process, since each one of the millions of eggs used every year has to be handled individually.

Scientists here believe that the egg is one of the best media ever discovered for growing modified viruses, and many feel confident that other virus strains will be adapted to the egg in Spain's continuing effort to "tame" deadly viruses which can't be scold, but which still are as menacingly high rate.

The Spanish Armada which attacked England in 1588 was composed of 132 vessels.

NORFOLK SOUTHERN BUS CORPORATION

Beach Publicity to Exceed That of Any Previous Year

The greatest amount of money in Virginia Beach's colorful history will probably be spent this year in promotional work, representatives of major transportation lines serving the resort heard Tuesday afternoon at a meeting in the Cavalier Hotel.

The meeting of the transportation group with City and Chamber of Commerce officials was attended with an inspection tour of the re-furnished beach and the viewing of a new color movie of Virginia Beach.

Sidney Banks, president of the Cavalier Hotel Corporation, was host to the group Tuesday night at a dinner also attended by members of the Virginia Beach Sports Club and some of the nation's leading golf professionals who were on hand for the Virginia Beach Open Golf tournament.

Edward H. Church, chairman of the Virginia Beach Tourism Commission, told the group of the work that had been done in replenishing the sand beach and estimated that the overall cost of the project would amount to more than $1,000,000. He stated that some 1,250,000 cubic yards of sand had been pumped into the beach.

The cost of the promotion already underway and projected came after Leo Hooty, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said that about $85,000 will be spent in advertising and other promotion through his organization and a special committee headed by Banks, and added that the

The Virginia Beach County Unit of the National Republican Convention, which is holding a "surprise" session at the House of Delegates seat now held by Harry B. Davis, when they named Mr. John F. Lippincott, of Princess Anne County, Monday night to oppose the veteran legislator in the July 14 primary.

The group also named a five-man committee to further the candidacy of Lippincott, who expressed surprise at being selected. The committee members were William F. Threlkeld, James L. Heath, Wesley Payne, John A. Tucker and Robert L. Simpson.

After the Monday night meeting, Dr. Lippincott, a native of New Jersey, said that the turn of events was so sudden he had not had time to make a prepared statement. He said that he had gone to the meeting with no idea he would come out of it as the group's choice.

Red Cross Fund Drive Extended

For the second time since the opening of the 1953 Princess Anne County Chapter American Red Cross Fund Drive in March an extension of the campaign is being announced today by H. A. Holt, fund chairman. At the present time the goal of $10,000 is lacking $3,000 of the needed amount. Although several districts completed their quotas in the early weeks of the campaign, others have not completed theirs. The Virginia Beach business area fell short in attaining its quota of $5,000, said a new committee from the successful home division headed by Mrs. Fred S. Perkins will attempt to bring greater contributions from the business area.

Holt urges all civic minded residents to augment their contribution, and to continue the over-extended campaign. The Red Cross is pointing out that $10,000 alone goes from this chapter to the National Blood Program which not only aids the fighting men through research and urgent donations of blood can help every person in the country.

Post Office Joins Clean-up Drive

The Virginia Beach Post Office has joined the general "clean-up" program of the community, according to an announcement this week by postmaster Howard S. Myers.

This week has been designated "Clean-up Week" at the local post office and among the improvements is the exterior painting of the building. In addition to the painting, the staff of Virginia Beach is repainting the walks around the building and post office employees are planting flowers.

Myers also announced that a courtesy mail box for motorists will be erected within the next few days which will permit motorists to deposit their mail at the street curb with a minimum of delay. The expense of installation has been borne by the post office employees. It was pointed out.

The program is designed to keep pace with the campaign to make the community more attractive and also to boost the morale of the post office employees.

Accord Reached On Water Route For North Beach

An agreement has been reached on a proposed route for new water mains to insure North Virginia residents an adequate water supply system.

The North Virginia Beach Sanitation Commission will recommend to the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors at its April 27th meeting that they accept the City of Virginia Beach plan for routing the water mains through the city. The resolution is agreed upon at a meeting of the commission Monday night.

The commission adopted the following resolution:

"This committee recommends to the board of Supervisors of Princess Anne County that the Virginia Beach plan for routing the water mains through the city of Virginia Beach be accepted and that the City of Virginia Beach be authorized to pay all costs of laying additional water mains and making other improvements necessary to realize the objectives of the Virginia Beach route in excess of $250,000."

The board of Supervisors approved this route and that the county officials should be appropriately instructed.

The commission's decision brings to an end the difference of opinion which has existed between the commission and the Resort City Council since new water mains were proposed for the area in an effort to eliminate a serious shortage of water there during the summer months.

Real Estate Body Marks Milestone

Enrollment of the 50,000th member of the National Association of Real Estate Boards a few days ago marks an historic milestone for the real estate industry. E. Fred Kemmer, Philadelphia, chairman of the Membership Committee, said today.

A. L. Candy, Newberg, Ore., became the 50,000th Realtor when he accepted as an active member of the Yamhill County Realty Board. He will be presented a commemorative plaque by NAREB for this distinction. Another plaque will be awarded to W. F. Heppner, president of the board, who was instrumental in enrolling Mr. Candy.

"Attainment of 50,000 active members is an important event in NAREB's 45-year growth to a leading trade association of the United States," Mr. Kemmer said. "This means that NAREB's membership has doubled since 1945, more than trebled since 1943, and has increased about five-fold since 1935."

Sarazen-Greene Combo Takes Pro-Am Honors

Stocky Gene Sarazen, the old pro, picked himself an amateur partner from Norfolk and together they walked off with top honors in the professional event held Wednesday afternoon at the Cavalier Yacht and Country as prelude to the 512-1/2 Virginia Beach Open golf tournament.

Sarazen had as his partner Doctor Ted Greene, of Norfolk's Ocean View course and they turned in a ball score of 57. Greene took full advantage of his 10 handicap.

Lowest individual effort of the day went to Portsmouth's Chandler Harper, the 1950 PGA king, who blazed the course with a six under 63. Harper missed putts for birdies on each of the last two holes, Sarazen fired a one-under-par 68.

Second low score went to a comparative newcomer, Frank Lee King, of Piedmont, Calif., who fashioned a 65. Jack Isaacs, of Langley Field, and Lanky Freddie Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, turned in 66's.

Firing in the main event over the 72 hole route gets underway today. Most of the big name players are listed to tee off during the middle of the day today.

Eighteen holes of play are listed for each of the next four days with the windup scheduled for Sunday. The weatherman has predicted favorable weather and record crowds are anticipated. The event is sponsored by the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Today is tee off time at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club as the nation's leading golf professionals begin play in the first annual $12,500 Virginia Beach Open golf tournament. The schedule calls for 18 holes of play each day through Sunday.

Heading the list of golfing notables is the fabulous Sammy Snead, the West Virginia hillbilly, who has won practically every major golf title in the world during the past fifteen years. He is a familiar figure on the Cavalier links having played here many times.

A special feature of the tournament is a $2500 added purse for those players 45 years and older. On hand for this prize are stocky Gene Sarazen and Doc Metz, the latter having served as traveling professional representing the Cavalier for several years.

Colorful Jimmy Damaret, the laughing boy from Texas, is also on hand and is always a crowd pleaser as well as one of the nation's finest golf players. He is the only three time winner of the Masters.

Other leading professionals in the field shooting for the top prize of $2000 are Freddie Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, Bob Toson, Northampton, Mass., Jim Turney, and the present PGA champion, Portsmouth's Chandler Harper, 1950 PGA king, Ed "Porky" Oliver, runner up Ben Hogan last week in the Masters, and many others.

After Friday's play the field will be reduced so that only the low scorers in the first two days of play will be eligible to compete Saturday and Sunday.

The event is the first of its kind here and is being sponsored by the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce.

New Polio Vaccine Appears Medical History in Making

The biggest story in medical history is in the making. It may become a completed story before the year is over.

The story is the new polio vaccine which recently passed its first human tests on 90 children and adults. A creamy vaccine, homogenized in mineral oil, gave all 90 persons protective antibodies against all three types of virus that can cause human polio.

However, Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who has worked on the vaccine, warns there will be no polio vaccine for general use this summer and that a great amount of work remains before the vaccine is ready for wide public use.

The vaccine is the result of the work of hundreds of scientists and $18,000,000 in March of Dimes funds.

It is made out of all three types of polio virus, grown in test tubes and then killed or inactivated with formaldehyde.

Disarmed this way, the viruses cannot cause polio, but can still stimulate the human body to produce antibodies, the agents to fight off invading live viruses.

Three weeks after the vaccine was injected into muscles, 90 persons at the U. T. Wistar Institute, Philadelphia, had antibodies against all three types of polio virus.

The tests were made on children and adults. The U. T. Wistar Institute has been studying polio since 1935. It has been the only place in the world where the virus has been grown in test tubes and then killed or inactivated with formaldehyde.

Dr. Salk said many more careful tests or thousands of people before the vaccine is ready for wide use.

The pace of progress is fast, he said, but must continue step by step to make sure this vaccine. It was first disclosed last January.

Dr. Salk said scientists working on the vaccine want to reach their goal as quickly as they can, but it cannot be done in one day. It will not be achieved, he said, if we move cautiously and with understanding step by step.

Certain things cannot be hastened, since each new step cannot be made without establishing from the wisdom of the one before. We are now faced with facts and theory with theories. With this enlightenment we can move forward more rapidly and with more confidence, he added.

How much will $200 Million buy ?

A hundred years ago it would have paid for the cost of more than half of all the completed railroads in the United States, lock, stock and barrel.

In fact it was only 72 years ago when the great Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio, a predecessor of the N. & W., stretching all the way from Norfolk, Va., to Bristol, Va.-Tenn. — was sold for only EIGHT million six hundred and five thousand dollars.

TODAY . . . in a few short years . . . it takes millions to keep a railroad properly equipped and maintained . . . to keep it constantly improved and ready for the traffic of tomorrow.

Since the end of World War II, the Norfolk and Western Railway has spent and authorized more than $207 million* . . . in a continuing program of building a BETTER railroad.

What has the N. & W.'s $207,000,000 bought since 1945? Scores of powerful, modern coal-burning locomotives, built in its own shops; thousands of sturdy steel freight cars of many types; fine passenger trains, heavier rails, better roadbed, improved signal systems; a great new merchandise freight pier at the Port of Norfolk, the largest single deck pier of its type on the Atlantic seaboard; a huge new double-track tunnel and track relocation project that have increased the speed and efficiency of moving heavy traffic; expansion of strategic yards; new engine terminals, modernized stations, new offices and other buildings, plus hundreds of other improvements all over the line.

Every dollar the Norfolk and Western has plowed back into its transportation plant is a solid investment in, and concrete evidence of, the railway's faith in the future of the territory it serves in partnership with people "all along the line."

*Actually, $207,137,000 . . . all set aside from the railway's earnings. Not one cent comes from subsidies such as those given by government to the railroads' competitors. This railroad, like the other U. S. railroads, pays its own way.

Keeping clothes in good condition is no problem if you plan to devote some time to it each week. If you can do on-the-spot mending, always pin a memo to the garment and you'll find it readily when you go through the closet or drawer once a week or twice a month.

Skilled mending gives each garment a new lease on life. Done, when the hole first appears, you'll be able to accomplish a minor job instead of a major one if you let it grow. For best matching, try to pull ravelings from the material itself, such as the inside seams. Crosswise darts will require cross threads while lengthwise ones will require the lengthier threads. Imitate the weave of the material for the best match. If it's a tightly woven material, make your darn close together; if loose, work loosely. Always darn from the right side of the material. This is necessary so you'll know how the darn will look, as it shows on the right side. Never make knots in the thread as this will make the material uneven. Leave half inch loose threads on the wrong side of the cloth. An embroidery hoop used on the spot which you're darning will make the job easier as it holds the material taut for you to make the stitches more even. It also prevents puckering. Press darts on the wrong side, and then use a small brush to get the nap in proper place on the right side.

Virginia Businessmen Attending Annual CofC Meet at Old Point

Businessmen from throughout Virginia are expected to attend the twenty-ninth meeting of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce this week.

Chamber officials estimate that upwards of 500 persons engaged in business and industry in the Old Dominion will gather at the Hotel Chamberlin, Old Point Comfort, for the two-day meeting today and Friday.

The gathering will include addresses by widely-known national and international spokesmen, conferences on various phases of Virginia's economy and tributes to a distinguished Virginian and to the State Corporation.

Lief Andersen, Son of Beach Folk, Gets Recognition

From Europe comes announcement that a young American artist's painting was chosen as one of the 15 best shown at the recent festival held in Bordighera, an Italian Riviera winter resort. The painting, classical in theme, will be sent to a collection of European art centers with a collection of old and modern classic productions.

The painter, Lief W. Andersen, Jr., 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andersen, 205-75th Street, Virginia Beach, has been studying and painting for more than a year in Italy with Venice his headquarters. Another of his pictures, a scene of the Battery in New York, was purchased and hung by a Venice Museum. Andersen's years of art studies in this country including work at the American University at Washington, D. C., and with the Art Students League in New York, were interrupted during the War when he served with the Air Corps. He is expected to return this summer or fall to his country. His mother is well known in Virginia Beach for her untiring contributions of blood mobile. When Mrs. Andersen contributed at the heat Civic club sponsored Blood Drive, June 19, she will be within one pint of giving three gallons of blood.

The meeting will get underway this morning with registration and separate business sessions devoted to fiscal policies, under the chairmanship of Henry Taylor, of Walkerton, World Trade, N. W. Kelley, of Roanoke, Freedom and Individual Responsibility, W. E. Wood, of Richmond; Industrial Development, Walter Dolbear, of Richmond; Social Security, Raymond Taylor, of Roanoke, and Public Relations and Travel, James N. Hunter, of Newport News.

The Rev. G. Paul Muselman has been named to head the new Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work for the National Council of the Episcopal Church. His job will be to help the Episcopal Church mean more than it does in the Nation's large cities and industrial areas. Most of Mr. Muselman's ministry has been to churches in cities where he has been active in civic life and labor relations.

Welcome Wagon Hostesses at Annual Meeting

Mrs. Lena Chair, Virginia Beach's Welcome Wagon hostess, and Mrs. Margaret Conklin, assistant hostess, are in New York this week attending the annual convention of Welcome Wagon-hostesses from all over the nation.

Virginia Beach's representatives in the national organization will be among more than 2000 hostesses in attendance at the meeting. The convention is international in scope since hostesses from Canada and Hawaii in addition to those from the 48 states are present.

The local hostesses will present Virginia Beach in the convention delegates at the Park Sheraton Hotel in the form of a thirty minute movie about Virginia Beach. The film tells the resort story of Virginia Beach including the beach, restoration and the highly successful sand festival held last year.

The convention marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the welcome wagon organization. It was founded by Thomas W. Briggs, of Memphis, Tenn., who is president of the parent company.

Notable speakers are on the convention program. They include Dr. Norman Vincent Peck, minister of Marble Collegiate Church, New York City; Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, of New York City; and Mrs. Louise Ferrand Wood, of the American Red Cross.

MRS. P. A. WALKER NEW ARC MEMBER

With a background of two years driving with the Red Cross Motor Corps in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Philip A. Walker, 108-81st Street, is the newest volunteer member of Princess Anne County Chapter, A.R.C. Before coming to Virginia Beach with Capt. Walker, U. S. N., who is a member of Sault in Norfolk, Mrs. Walker accumulated about 150 hours of driving in the Capital. Mrs. Walker's duties come under the chairmanship of the local chapter's Volunteer Services headed by Mrs. Lewis Throm of Crystal Acres.

Little Theatre to Present Surefire Comedy

Back on Broadway New Vehicle for Virginia Mayo

Virginia Mayo, of the angel face and provocative eyes and figure, is teamed once again with Gene Nelson of "She's Working Her Way Through College" for some sprightly on-stage business in "She's Back on Broadway." It's a handsome mounted, backstage story, filmed in effective Warner color and featuring snatches of a dozen old songs as well as several lavish production numbers built around bright new money by Bob Hillard and Carl Sigman.

The story, however, of a glamorous movie star, a has-been at the fortunes with a Broadway success, should be a zippy comedy. Nevertheless, Miss Mayo is always appealing as the star, both on and off stage. Her romantic vis-a-vis is Steve Cochran, the show's director whom she left six years before when she went on to brief Hollywood glory.

The entire action takes place during the time the show-within-the-show is being put together, providing ample opportunity for music and dancing and revealing glimpses into Broadway professional life. A sign of the changing times, perhaps, is the fact that the show-within-the-show is a flop except for the personal success of Miss Mayo who, in a sentimental climax, decides to stick with Broadway and Cochran rather than desert the theatre for the second time.

Unfortunately, the agile and personable Nelson is seen in this plot business not at all, figuring only in the musical numbers. Frank Lovejoy is fine as a harassed producer. Like Miss Mayo, voluptuous Patricia Wymore does well in double duty: as Cochran's sometime girl friend and as a specialty dancer within the show. Standout tunes, which may be of Hit Parade calibre, are "I'll Take You As You Are" and "Breakfast in Bed." The latter a breezy novelty sold in a solid style by Miss Mayo. Henry Blanke produced and Gordon Douglas directed from a script by Orin Jannings. Exhibitors undoubtedly have an exploitable item in "She's Back on Broadway."

"OUT OF FRYING PAN" AT HI SCHOOL AUDITORIUM APRIL 27-28; WELL CAST

A surefire comedy hit, a top-notch cast, and the best possible location are offered by the Little Theatre in its final production of the season, to be presented April 27-28 at the Virginia Beach High School. "Out of the Frying Pan" was produced with notable success several seasons ago in New York, and has drawn large and enthusiastic audiences wherever it has played throughout the country. The critics were unanimous in their appreciation and according to one New York critic "it kept an appreciative audience laughing almost continuously both for its sheer artlessness and humorous situations."

Written by Francis Swann and directed by Mrs. Arthur Mastury, "Out of the Frying Pan" has a cast headed by such Little Theatre favorites as Kay Penner, Conrad Little, Ann Henry, Peggy Penner, Liz Sills, Bill Gertz and Bill Lockhard. Kay Penner, who will be remembered here for his role in "Here Today," is a Princess Director for WJAR TV, and been associated with radio and theatre for sixteen years. He appeared first with the Parkersburg W. Virginia Little Theatre, and with the Kanawha Players, in Charleston W. Va., one of the three top Little Theatres in country played with outstanding success in such productions as "Mr. and Mrs. North," "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Rope" and "Out of the Frying Pan." In that production of "Out of the Frying Pan," he (Continued on Page Four)

Today—let's get down to some very serious thinking in regard to feeding the family in case of emergency.

In Modern War civilians are a primary target of enemy attack. Atomic attack upon an American City or county would cause widespread destruction and injure thousands and deprive many of the necessities of life. Such an attack could break the spirit of the people and halt their defense effort unless they were organized to restore order, and continue their regular activities.

The Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950 provides for welfare services as a part of civil defense. The emergency welfare services of civil defense should be organized to meet the immediate needs of the people and to assist in what ever way it is needed. Some will need food, lodging, clothing—essential household goods, tools and occupational equipment. Every effort should be made to keep families together. This is so important in the case of children whose fears and tensions will be greatly eased if they are with their mothers or in a family group. If such an attack should take place—the problem of feeding thousands of people would have to be met with much care and intelligent planning. Every available method and service for emergency feeding must be considered in the planning of a local program including mobile feeding—private and public eating establishments, clubs, schools, Churches, community centers and every facility that could be converted into eating centers.

Civil Defense is concerned with mass feeding should an Atomic attack come—but just as important in this Civil Defense program is the part the family will play in the feeding program. Every family should maintain a three-day supply of food on an emergency shelf. You will have to determine the quantity of food necessary for your family and set your emergency shelf up accordingly.

There are many foods and menus suggested by the Civil Defense Committee of the Virginia Diabetic Association and are recommended by the Virginia Office of Civil Defense.

I am glad to be able to pass those suggestions on to you—and by all means—set up that emergency shelf. The old saying "it's better to be safe than sorry"—certainly can be applied here—I hope you'll never have to use this emergency food—but let's have it ready.

Merry Matrons

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

Mrs. Richard Nixon, our beautiful Second Lady of the Land, endears herself by her charming hostessing in her home to strangers who "drop in" to visit her at all hours, even on days when she is "not receiving." She is never at a loss, we hear, as to how to handle such situations. If the happenings of the day are a tad fish for the Veep, on maid's day off, the most likely will invite her guests right out into her stream-lined kitchen! Her folks, always-at-home manner has become the chit-chat of Washington parties. We couldn't help but think that this always-being-natural and meeting things as they come with fun and love of your neighbors in your heart can't help but keep the young look glowing in any age merry matron. How many times have you seen those scowls, frowns and nervous finger-tappings begin when you've dropped in on some one who feels she's not prepared for you and yet, to look about, you can't see anything out of place? Keep calm, cool, collected and happy is a good theme for any gal who is determined the won't let old Father Time's stopwatch frighten her!

Mrs. R. H. Owen has learned the trick of getting pleasure and fun out of doing for others. Now that she's installed as the new first vice-president of the Woman's Club, you'll find her ready and willing to help others in the same manner she's been so valuable to the Scott Memorial Methodist church folks.

When attractive Mrs. John Patrick arrived here from Williamsburg, to make a new home, she made haste to continue her interests in all civic work about her by volunteering for Red Cross work. And she's a golfing lady with a hobby that could keep her more interested in what goes on around the links instead of what's with people who need help! (Her hubby is the manager of the telephone company and Beach folks are glad they're here.)

Merry matrons met usual at the last Woman's club meeting at Pine Tree Inn on Tuesday 14th last when Mrs. Fred Perkins as president, Mrs. Robert Steinilber as recording secretary and Mrs. H. E. Halstead as treasurer, began their second term of office. Mrs. R. H. Owen, Mrs. Jimmy Darden and Mrs. Cecil Reid were all in a happy tizzy when installed as the "able three" vice presidents—all excellent workers!

Your Alisbee's bonnet is off to Mrs. Reuben F. Trant for the fine work she and her committee of twenty five are doing every third Wednesday afternoon when they meet at the American Legion Hall to make cancer dressings for the Norfolk Clinic. Just wish more and more matrons who want to be merry would volunteer for civic work here the Beach. If they did, they'd soon find out what the secret is for all these Beach gals who work long hours for others and in so doing keep young looking and merry as matrons.

Vivacious Mrs. Waverly Dickens Jr. doesn't know how much good her gay and helpful chats with patients at the Virginia Beach Hospital is meaning to the patients. She is a shining-bright chauffeur for the rolling, lending library service there, and volunteering the job, too.

Mrs. V. P. O'Neill, artistic painter, artist and mother, who lives at the Mayflower likes to tell about the fine work her late father accomplished as a surgeon in Florida. He was a full-blooded Seminole and very distinguished doctor in his field. His attractive daughter loves her ranch homes in Florida and California but is sharing her feeling for the Beach. So much so, looks like she's planning to keep on here with her young family because our "little bird" auxiliary member to this column tells us she has had a successful audition for her own Tidewater radio program.

WTAR's new radio and television building was humming last Monday with over seven hundred invited guests helping your Alisbee celebrate her seventh anniversary greeting her merry matron friends each morning over WTAR with "good morning to you and to you and to you!" Which is a good time to say goodbye "to you and to you and to you" for this week!

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME—

A longer summer season and more wonderful clothes suitable to the weather, than has been recorded for many a year, is predicted for this summer 1953! Because women, even the most fashion-conscious, are now more realistic or sensible about wearing their clothes in comfort, they want to have dresses, suits and coats that are cool to wear, in town, not only in hot July and August throughout the country but in May, June September and sometimes in October, when year after year, "unexpected" high temperatures strike.

Getting wear out of a wardrobe for five months is good in anybody's book. It could hardly be realized if there were not such a plenitude of cottons, silks, science fabrics, woollens and linens. They have "invented" fabrics in weights and weaves suitable to summer wear, to have the look of any fabric you ever thought of, and a great many you could not have dreamed of. This has a particular application to cottons, special attention going to the

and this is the summer that a suit as tailored as the most precise British work, as well as foamy sheer dance dresses will be in the nation's stores.

DRESSES ARE SOFTER, SLIMMER.
Sheath lines and a giant crop of cottons make top news in dress fashions for summer wear, day or night. Softer, slimmer silhouettes, with more of a lady-like look, form the character in general. Slim lines by actual cut or by soft fabrics with flares that fall into slender folds, represent at least half of the many dress collections for summer wear. Where fullness is used in any fabric that is not specifically "soft" the fullness is controlled to reflect overall softening of the silhouette.

THE COSTUME LOOK STAYS ON.
Costumes, and the costume look, will be as important for summer as they are for Spring, however, most are featuring jackets with a wider variety of cuts than seen in the Spring. Boxy hipbone lengths will maintain a steady pace in all fabrics, with a particular application to cottons, special attention going to the

I hope this information will be helpful—but I hope far more you'll never have need of an emergency food shelf—

You'll find, too, that this open neckline look reflects two major signatures — more width at the top and more cover-up for summer. Adding importantly to this approach are extended shoulders, puff sleeves, wide big bows and spreading décolletage to short sleeves, wide big bows and spreading décolletage to short sleeves. TUBULAR PANTS, BELIEVE IT OR NOT

The logical contrast to the big wrappy shirt look on top are the tubular pants cut long and slim and the gayer the color the better. These pants frequently pull up on the leg for extra ease and some pull up and tie at the calf, Spanish tarzan fashion. The look is black and slim, in any case, and if you show pants, show them tight, gals!

Chevrolet's improved Velvet-Pressure Jumbo-Drum Brakes give maximum stopping power with maximum ease of application

Chevrolet owners have long been convinced that they have the safest as well as the largest brakes to be found on any low-priced car.

And now, for 1953, our engineers have made these brakes even more efficient by installing a new hydraulic master cylinder, increasing brake responsiveness while decreasing pedal effort, and adopting a new foot-form brake pedal which provides easier, more natural contact with the foot.

The results are much smoother, more responsive brake action... with up to 23% less pedal pressure... and a soft, velvety feel of operation hitherto found only in higher-priced cars.

Realize, too, that here is the only low-priced car with sturdy Fisher Unisteel Construction, Safety Plate Glass in windshield and all windows of sedans and coupes, extra-easy Power Steering* and many other important safety factors, and you'll understand why owners rate the new Chevrolet tops in safety-protection as well as in beauty and performance.

Coming in, see and drive this thrillingly advanced car at your first opportunity.

DOUG FORD CAPTURES TOP MONEY IN VA. BEACH OPEN

Doug Ford, of Harrison, N. Y., staved off a late rally by Ansel Snow, of Jamestown, N. C., Sunday afternoon to capture the first annual Virginia Beach Open Golf Championship with a record 72-hole score of 267.

Ford saw his 54 hole lead dwindle to one stroke at one point as Snow literally burned up the course, but the Harrison star held on and finished brilliantly to capture his first title on the professional winter tour. The win boosted him into second place among money winner winners with a total of $598.84. He captured $2000 first place money.

Snow came roaring in with a seven-under-par 62 Sunday and came to the last hole needing a par three to tie the course record of 61 set by Dick Metz in the meet's opening round. He three putted the final green and completed the tourney distance in 364 strokes.

In third place with rounds of 70-67-61-67 came colorful Jimmy Demaret, who pocketed $1000 for his effort. Demaret headed immediately for Las Vegas, Nevada, where the $35,000 Las Vegas tournament opens this week.

Stocky Gene Sarazen captured first place in the Walter M. Bott senior division to win $1000. He collected $36.66 in the regular event for a total winning for the four days at $1,016.66.

Dick Metz, the holder of the Cavalier Course record, finished fourth and pocketed $840. In fifth place was Francis "Bo" Winninger, of Oklahoma City. He won $700, his best effort of the tour.

Frank Macchioni, of Raleigh, N. C., copied amateur honors with a total of 289. He was presented a beautiful silver trophy for his effort. He noted that Bob Davis, of Virginia Beach by two strokes, Tony Whitecock was third low amateur.

The tournament, sponsored by the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, was termed a howling success and Sunday's gallery was the largest in its kind ever seen at Virginia Beach.

All of the touring professionals expressed an interest to return to Virginia Beach and a movement is already started in planning next year's event.

City, County Fail To Agree; Water Route Uncertain

Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach authorities cannot agree on the proposed water main route for North Virginia Beach and as a result another attempt to seek permission from the Army to tap into the existing main supplying Fort Story will be made, it was learned at Monday night's city council meeting.

The decision was reached when it was disclosed that the County Board of Supervisors had rejected a recommendation of the North Virginia Beach Sanitation Commission that the money voted in a recent bond issue be used to enlarge the city's existing water supply system.

The Board of Supervisors reiterated its request to the City Council that permission be given by that body to construct a new 12-inch main through Atlantic, across Link Bay and tapping the North Virginia Beach system for distribution.

The Council refused permission. If the committee, which is composed of C. A. Mowry, Sanitation Commission chairman, Reid W. Digges and H. F. Trumble, is successful it will be the third successive year residents of the area have had to depend on the use of the Army main.

At the end of last Summer during which the use of the main prevented an acute shortage of water, Army authorities said they would not permit use of the line this year. Permission was granted last year because local authorities said an emergency existed.

A resolution adopted by the Council went further to authorize the committee to purchase the Army line if possible, guaranteeing that the city would supply Fort Story with adequate water and that the line would be returned to the Army in the time of an emergency.

The two proposals for improving the water supply in the North resort area have been under study for several months.

Money to lay new lines in the area is to be raised through a sale of bonds. In a special referendum on the bond issue residents of the area voted overwhelmingly for the bond issue. The county plan is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $350,000 while the city plan is expected to cost $293,000. The city has said that it would finance any cost in addition to $250,000.

In refusing the county permission to lay the Atlantic route, the Council made provisions in the ordinance adopted to keep the matter open. The ordinance said that the offer, made by the city will remain in effect until accepted by the county or until some satisfactory solution is found.

Every Qualified Contestant Wins In Gigantic Competitive Event

A brand new 1953 Chevrolet 2-door, deluxe sedan priced at approximately $2,000.00, and cash awards totaling $825 will be awarded as prizes in the subscription campaign which The Sun-News is starting next week. The campaign will continue for about six weeks coming to a close on June 13.

All contestants not winning grand prizes will receive a commission on all the subscriptions they sell after they qualify.

To make the contest a success The Sun-News wants subscription workers in every community and will pay them for all they do in their spare time in the next few weeks.

New Car First Prize

The one who does the most...that is, the one who gets the most votes of subscriptions either new or renewals will receive the GRAND AWARD of a new 1953 Chevrolet AUTOMOBILE.

On page 3 you will find the full list of awards, the rules applying to this interesting contest, and the valuable first subscription coupon.

Working in the campaign is an interesting, pleasant occupation, meeting the workers in friendly contact with people in the home community and elsewhere (for the workers are privileged to get subscriptions anywhere and from the people who will be grateful for the opportunity presented. No resident of Princess Anne or adjoining territory should be overlooked.)

Anyone can do this work in such spare time as he or she may have and earn good pay, probably $500 per month, which will "come in handy" for anything the worker wishes to buy, whether clothes or jewelry, household articles, or a wonderful trip, or an education, or money, or a new Chevrolet for vacation, or anything else.

Work For Spare Time

The housewife who has each week a few hours free from house work can make in those hours, money that will enable her to buy herself or husband or children or the home security (fine things which otherwise they may hesitate to buy. There are many ladies and gentlemen of these counties who have been successful in selling many who will be successful once they get started. Here is an opportunity which has not come to this county in many years. The Sun-News is glad to make this offer and will welcome any and all inquiries.

A "How To Enter" blank and a "Nomination Coupon" will be found elsewhere in this issue for use today. Just mail or bring the entry blank to the Campaign Manager and get on early start.

Judge Floyd E. Kellam of Princess Anne's Circuit Court this week continued his decision in the Show of the Month Club suit against Princess Anne County Chief of Police James E. Moore until the ABC Board has time to act on an application of the organization for a license of the club type.

In setting the continuance Judge Kellam said he believed the police had acted wisely after having called the ABC authorities and finding that no ABC license at the time, and that the club was operating under a restaurant license. He added that he believed that there was a "misunderstanding."

The application to the ABC Board has now been made, according to Attorney Willard R. Ashburn, but had not been made at the time the club was chartered. Ashburn told the court that the application had been processed and a decision by the Board is expected soon.

'President's Lady' Fine Film Fare

Opinion about the real character of Andrew Jackson is a man will be considerably changed when "The President's Lady" which plays Sunday and Monday, April 26-27 at the Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre, is shown around the country.

Most people think of the seventh president of the United States as a rough and ready man of quick temper, sporting for a fight either with fists or guns, a gambler and a despoiler of women, but the screen version of Irving Stone's splendid novel reveals him as a man of courage and tender feelings, capable of great love which he showers unreservedly upon his wife, Rachel.

Susan Hayward as Rachel Jackson and Charlton Heston in the role of Andrew bring this tender love story to life on the screen with highly sympathetic performances to make "The President's Lady" a really distinguished motion picture. Playwright John Patrick's script has acquainted the warmly human quality and intensely dramatic aspects of his story while at the same time giving an historically accurate account of the private life of the Jacksons.

From the day they were remarried until Rachel's death she was snubbed by society and became an outcast. The most maligned woman in American history, he insults heaped upon her in private and in public precipitated the last Andrew fought in behalf of her good name and while he made good a promise to make her "First Lady of the Land" Rachel died before his saguration.

In the Russian Army a general is 300 times as much pay as an ordinary soldier whereas in the U. S. Army a major general gets only 10 times as much as a buck private.

It is difficult to imagine more convincing proof of Chevrolet's superiority, for such clear-cut and overwhelming preference can lead to but one conclusion:

Chevrolet trucks must be better, must enjoy solid advantages over other trucks. Such preference must rest on a firm foundation of good, sound value. And, of course, it does—as owners of Chevrolet trucks can testify.

Chevrolet trucks are widely known and preferred for their ability to hold hauling and delivery costs down. They are known for their power, their stamina, for their economical gas and oil economy, as well as their low-cost upkeep. And on these same counts, you can expect 1953 Chevrolet trucks to be even more outstanding.

THE PLAN . . .

The PLAN of the CASH OFFER CAMPAIGN has been endorsed by the leading business men and women where it has been in use. It has been OK'd by the most skeptical as being the fairest and most equitable plan yet devised whereby a person may earn one of the most handsome cash awards or an automobile during spare time on a short period. It offers a highly dignified method of securing a few short weeks that requires months and sometimes years of labor and saving to acquire. Ambition and close application to a pleasant occupation during spare moments is all that one needs to succeed in an Automobile and "Cash Offer" contest. In fact, one is generally surprised at the ease with which rapid progress is made after one enters and determines to succeed.

This "Cash Offer" Campaign is being conducted by the A. M. ALEXANDER COMPANY, originator of the "Cash Offer" campaign.

SPRING CLEAN-UP

Thanks to 43 million passenger cars, our roadways have become the garbage cans and wastebaskets of the ubiquitous U.S. motorist. He and his family leave a spoor of old cushions, springs, empty rye pints, eggshells, beer cans, watermelon rinds, discarded disposable tissue, abandoned pickle bottles, broken flat hats and even female undergarments.

Other types of outdoor zanies cut down or root up blossoming young trees, flowers and shrubs, scrawl or carve their names and sordid sentiments on mountain-side monuments, and, through criminal carelessness, start forest fires.

Our Great American Outdoors will finally turn into one vast refuse heap—unless something is done about all this. Fortunately in Portland, Ore., a man named Samuel Moment, an economist for the Bonneville Power Administration, is doing something. Backed by his fellow members of the Izaak Walton League, Mr. Moment has launched a "Keep America Beautiful—Don't Be a Litterbug" campaign. He is urging the automotive industry to provide all new cars with trash receptacles so that motorists can stop dumping their refuse overboard. He wants the petroleum industry to provide at filling stations paper bags for the disposal units of cars. After a trash basket, Mr. Moment also wants legislatures to give money for more rubbish cans and bricker scavenger service for them. He has started an extensive educational campaign to teach Litter-bugs and Vandallbugs in Oregon to stop acting like pigs. He has persuaded Walt Disney to make a picture about it.

We haven't heard of a worthier cause in years and wish Sam Moment and his cohorts every success. Let's get this place poiced up!

"NO MORE DREAMLANDS"

The Washington Times-Herald recently ran a long article on the Tennessee Valley Authority. It pointed out that TVA can produce favorable financial reports because it can charge off tremendous sums to flood control and navigation—and because it allows only about 9 per cent of its income to states and counties in lieu of taxes, whereas private electric utilities pay out some 22 percent of all revenues in taxes.

Then the paper said, "The new Republican Congress is not committed to socialism and it is looking for ways to reduce taxes. One of the first places to look is the TVA. All of its power plants should be sold as soon as possible to private industry, a step that would reduce the national debt by about $1,000,000,000. Pending completion of the sale, TVA power rates should be fixed according to realistic accounting methods and all revenue from the enterprises should be turned over to the Treasury. The taxpayers want no more dreamlands."

This is squarely in line with the fast-growing idea that the government should get out of all commercial business. There could be no better way to reduce the national debt, to balance the budget, and to reduce taxes. Nothing would be lost—regulated private enterprise would supply us with all the services in abundance, and pay heavy taxes for the privilege of doing so. And, most important of all, we'd show that we aren't just paying lip-service to the cause of freedom—we'd be practicing what we preach.

HOW SUBMERGED LANDS BILL AFFECTS VIRGINIA

During the Senate's debate on the Submerged Lands Bill I have been somewhat disturbed by indications of a widespread misunderstanding of the issues involved.

Many of the letters I received from obviously sincere and intelligent Virginia constituents suggested that they believed: (1) that the pending proposal would rob most of the states, including Virginia, of the special benefit of a few favored states with oil resources off their coastline; (2) that passage of this bill would deprive the public schools of large amounts of money which otherwise would be available for educating our children; and (3) that the Congress was proposing to do some damage to our judicial system by withdrawing decisions of the Supreme Court.

The facts, actually, are these: S. J. Res. 13, as the bill before the Senate is known, merely provides that the States shall have clear title to ownership of lands beneath navigable waters within their boundaries and of the resources on or in those lands and that the federal government gives up any claim to such property. No provision is made with respect to resources of the continental shelf, which lies beyond the historic three-mile boundaries of the coastal States and the bill would have no effect on the Congressional power of the federal government to regulate commerce, provide for the common defense or to conduct international affairs in the navigable waters within state boundaries.

It is only in recent years that the federal government has claimed these offshore property rights but the States had enjoyed them for many years and developed great wealth in oil and minerals, sand and mineral resources, filling in to make new land and building structures such as piers over the waters. Virginia, of course, has been a participant in this program and would have much to lose if the federal claims were sustained. That the pending bill is not something of selfish interest to only a few states is indicated by the fact that since 1938 officials of 47 states have appeared in support of similar legislation and more than 3,200 chambers of commerce, trade associations and similar groups have advocated it.

As for legal aspects, the Supreme Court said in 1845 that "the shores of navigable waters, and the soils under them were not granted by the Constitution to the United States, but were reserved to the states respectively, and the new states have the same rights, sovereignty and jurisdiction over this subject as the original states." That rule has been accepted and affirmed in 52 Supreme Court decisions and in 244 state and federal court decisions. There are only three recent cases which have raised a doubt and made Congressional action necessary for clarification.

The question of funds for public schools is not, in my opinion, a legitimate issue in considering this bill. If the property rights morally belong to the states, we would not be justified in robbing them simply to make worthwhile use of the revenue. And,

The Editor's Mail Box

Dear Editor:
 I feel it to be my duty and the duty and pleasure of all citizens to not only comment but to thank sincerely all of our citizens that either worked diligently, supplied their hotel rooms, food, transportation, etc. to make the Virginia Beach Open Golf Tournament a real success from every point of view.

This 1953 golf tournament has been publicized in newspapers throughout the United States and is most valuable publicity. The results should show up on May 1st, but in seasons to come.

I especially wish to thank Mr. Bill McCann, Mr. Sidney Banks, Mr. John Bell, Mr. Leo Harty, officers and employees of the Chamber of Commerce for their planning and continued efforts from the beginning to the end of the contest.

To Mr. Walter Scott and all others that contributed generously to make it an outstanding success for the golfers.

All the local and nearby golfers who took part in the tournament played the management and many details that they efficiently handled.

There are so many of our citizens that played an important part in the success of this fine tournament that it is difficult to properly thank them all. However, I cannot overlook the fine work of those taking tickets at the entrance of Birdneck Point, the marshes, those handling the concession stands, the scoreboards, speaker system, etc.

The Cavalier Hotel staff, the Yacht and Country Club staff and especially Mr. Les Larson, the host pro, the greenskeeper, Mr. Raymond Mills, and their helpers came even if the oil resources under our coastal waters belonged to the federal government. I would oppose using that source of revenue for operating expenses of our schools because, as I indicated in this column recently, compromising strings would be attached to the funds. Even though federal aid to education was a proper and desirable government function such aid geared to receipts from off-shore oil would be wholly unsatisfactory. The amount of such revenue would be governed by the price of oil and current production, even in war time. In peace time, the government would undoubtedly reserve that resource for a future emergency.

ALBERT CROSBY 'GALLON CLUBBER'

Young and old alike know Albert V. Crosby, Jr., 208-56th Street, Virginia Beach, as manager of the Beach Theatre, but to the ever-increasing blood donors in this area he is known as a savior to their chivalry "Gallon Club." An eight-pint donor, Crosby learned the need of blood when as a captain he served as a paratrooper for two years with the 82nd Division of the 509th Paratrooper Group for one year in Korea. The son of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Crosby of Norfolk, the latter of whom was chosen Virginia's outstanding mother in 1942, Crosby came to Virginia Beach four years ago. He is married and has a son, Bill. Crosby already has signed up for the next visit of the Civilian Club sponsored visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit on June 19.

'Holiday' Features Street's Story of War of 1860's

"The last great war between gentlemen" That was Winston Churchill's characterization of what History magazine, in its May issue, is pleased to call "The Civil War between the States."

"Perhaps," says Holiday, "Mr. Churchill was thinking Petersburg, where a Maine regiment of 900 lost almost 700 dead in seven minutes. No machine guns, no grenades; just gentlemen killing gentlemen."

Crammed with facts which are either new or long forgotten by most of the present generation, and illustrated with its customary fine photography, "The Civil War" by the renowned author James Street, is fascinating, if horrifying, reading. Not least of the interest is to be found in the recollection of the inconsistencies of the "national schizophrenia"—the shelving of the Constitution by Lincoln, the leading of the South into total war and total devastation by the rigid Constitutionalist, Jefferson Davis, the fact that R. E. Lee decried slavery, while Grant's wife owned slaves, and many others as startling.

The start of the war, its causes, its campaigns, the humbers of the Northern generalship, the courage and sacrifices of the South—all are told by Arthur Street, and all are told in an interesting-arresting manner.

And the aftermath, through which even yet, the South moves, there are further facts many have forgotten. All in all, this is an article which every adult should read in sheer fascination, and which should be a "must" for every school student.

Little Theatre Play Shows Would-be Thespian's Trials

It will be family night at the Little Theatre when "Out of the Frying Pan," a heartwarming and cheerful farce opens a two night run at the Virginia Beach High School April 27-28 at 8:30 P.M. The story of the play concerns three young men and three young women sharing an apartment. They are would-be stage folk, driven to this community scheme by the lack of economic security. The apartment they rent is immediately above that of a Broadway producer who has a hit running and is about to cast a road company. They rehearse the play which he is currently producing, but the problem is how to get him upstairs to see it? The plans are further complicated by the fact that a snippy young friend of one of the girls enters the picture and threatens to tell the girl's father how she is living. The producer, who is also an amateur chef, runs out of flour and comes upstairs to borrow a cup. The youngsters are determined to have him see evidence of their ability, so to suppress him they stage a murder scene, so realistic that police swarm into the scene. Hilarious complications arise but of course all ends well.

From the family angle, not only is "Out of the Frying Pan" good family fare, but it also boasts two family combinations in the cast. Kay Penner, a veteran of theatre, radio, and TV plays Arthur Kenny the producer, while his petite and charming wife Peggy, who was last seen in "Cradle Snatchers," is cast as Dottie Coburn, the youngest of the stagestruck youngsters. Conrad Little Sr., playing his first role, appears as Mr. Coburn, Dottie's somewhat apologetic father, and Connie Little, his Real-life daughter, is Marge Benson, another of the youngsters. Connie will be remembered for her roles in "Candlelight," "For Love or Money," "John Loves Mary," "Goodbye My Baby," and "The Two Mrs. Carrs."

Ann Henry is probably the busiest member of the cast, for she is also in charge of production. Ann has been seen in "You Can't Take It With You" (Continued on Page Five)

NEW FILM

It's the "Kiss-of-the-Year" when Elizabeth Taylor and Fernando Lamas embrace in one of the vivid romantic scenes of "The Girl Who Had Everything," exciting story of a girl who picks the wrong man to fall in love with. William Powell, Gig Young and James Whitmore are others in the cast of the new M-G-M drama, opening Wednesday, April 29, at the Beach Theatre.

Merry Matrons

By ALICE

Mrs. Alice Thompson is a Connecticut commuting matron who runs her own home (without help) cook, clean, and devotes some time to her grandchildren and her hobby of sewing. She is also the first and only woman publisher of a national magazine in our country, a national magazine, to be specific. She's a woman who had dared to be "first" because she approached her task with calmness and pleasure in trying to do the best possible job at hand. She's most attractive and has a reach-out-to-you personality which has helped her do the best possible job because she has liked people and wanted to know them better. What a grand idea for other matrons! —to like people and be interested in their ways of living—which can help but broaden one's own thinking and outlook on life. Again, we repeat, be interested in the other fellow and it will keep you young and happy thinking which, in turn, will give you that youthful glow from within.

Major J. Delmar Dee's enthusiastic Missus Dee for the Birdneck Garden Club won the top honor in the last-tennis arrangements which your Alice featured at her recent seventh anniversary. Mad-Hatters Teaparty at WTAR. It was a simply huge Mexican hat, with Spring flowers in colors matching the weave in the hat popping up out of the crown and around the brim were seven tiny hats—each a different little gem—all made of flowers and tiny leaves. Mrs. Dee's idea: one was bonnet for each of the seven years. Cute, eh? (The guests did the voting, too.)

Mrs. W. E. Strole, Cavalier Garden Club, placed second with a delicate blue milk-glass dish, resembling a hat turned-up-in-front-and-down-in-back brim, filled with small white flowers to resemble the crown. Wonderful imagination and delicacy of design!

Mrs. David N. Stormont, president of the Cavalier Garden Club, has a pleasant smile and manner which goes a long way in greeting people. If you're only a sort of national style-week with all matrons, all the time, we'd have merrier parties, wouldn't we?

Mrs. Fred S. Perkins looked drowsy about her throat at your Alice's party. Mrs. Cecil Reid in navy blue and Mrs. Wallace Clark in a smart, large peek-a-boo hat all added to the festivity of the event.

Eva Mae Nee wore the biggest, most be-phoned hat we've seen in the invitation read "wear your prettiest or maddest hat" and Eva Mae chose to interpret the latter idea.

Ann Pennington trotting about WTAR's hall in a cute small hat and navy and giving her usual pep talk about the forthcoming opening of Lesley Savage's summertime Theatre-GO-Wound group.

Mrs. Ralph C. Gifford's greatest interest of the moment is the success of the Junior Guild of Christ Church's hutchons to be served, at Eastville, Virginia, on Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2—that's May Day Mr. and Mrs. George Willis, III home during Historic Garden Week and the next one at "Edison."

In Virginia. Plan to visit the Eastern Shore gardens even though all this is not announced in the official Garden Week Guide.

Barbara Summers, after a year's absence, is back at the PAX switchboard at the Cavalier. She's been in Miami and can whip up a cute story about Arthur Godfrey, owner of the Kenilworth hotel there, and his keen interest in its success.

No two-tone on the Beach quite so devoted as that of pretty matron Frances Derring and her young teenage son.

powder cut in shortening—add milk stir in until all of flour is blended in. Roll out on floured board 1-4 inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine, sprinkle over brown sugar and cinnamon—roll up like jelly-roll. Cut in one inch pieces. Place slices cut-side down on pecans in muffin pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 25 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from pan at once.
Bet the girls would love to have an invite—don't you? Bye-bye—See you next week.

STRAIGHT From the SHOULDER . . . Fashion, That Is!

COATS BRIGHT NEW STARS

Coats seem to be more colorful than any other of the new styles that with the pastel shades and brilliant colors in the short coats, toppers and finger-tip lengths and the gay splashes in the taffeta, with shantung and lace duster coats. There is scarcely a quiet style to be found with their fabrics rich and deep and such startling lines in some of the late Spring and summer "throw outs." Have you noticed how the coats have been accented with the rest of the costume, the dresses and suits, too? The most popular still being the cardigan-line long coat with lining to match the print dress worn with it. Paul Parson, one of our clever American designers, has designed a buttoned and belted coat dress with the accent on lines achieving the high fashion simplicity for which Paul is noted. It has an interesting swerved front, lined with contrasting material which gives it a most gay tone. Sheer dusters for dancing evenings at the Beach clubs will be popular come the summer breezes. Organidies in all the pastel tones and silky chiffons make exciting long coats—at least that's what they're called, fellas, with that peacock look—for tossing over a swirly dancing dress.

THE MIDDY IS BACK!

Baleenaga, who is giving Christian Dior a run for his money for top billing in the French fashion firmament, brought back the middy in 1952 with his famous Baleenaga brown lace middy dress. This Spring, he is promoting the middy again with his beautifully unfitted suits—jackets being direct descendants of the same brown lace job of last year. Did you ever wonder where that fashion came from? Forget about the midshipman influence because the middy style was really born in the Vassar college gymnasium back in 1900. Then, from a humble gym-bloomer, topped the Vassar girls' bloomers, it blossomed into a bit of chic fashion in the Twenties. Green Wills Moody gave it an okay when she sported one on the tennis courts in reigning tennis queen of the times. Even a middy sweater was brought out at this time by Paton, French designer. Come the depression you know what happened to those extra fur-collars in fashion during that period. But now, thanks to Baleenaga—and all those designers and manufacturers who have copied him—the middy is back and you've probably noticed it in the trimmed-down, prepped-up look.

GETTING IT IN THE NECK

Glamour, we mean! A hold over from winter fashions is the glamorized collar the gals are wearing. You remember the monk and ocelot collars, followed by the jewel-embroidered collars on sweaters—and what a fad the separate jeweled collars and cuffs became over night! Now we have with us the pearl studded, and rhinestone collars to dress up our own sweaters and with warmer weather almost here, collars are made of flowers and petals. Some of them match chic flower hats. Comes the bikini bathing suit time and not a collar will be found.

BEAUTY IN THE PINK

Washington ladies viewing the red saw pink instead of red for a change. The California Fashion Creators really let the fashion-conscious Washingtonians get their fill of Mame pink, rosy pink and just plain pink! The Cole-designed swim suit from California was a pippin, also a surprise. The mannequin showing it walked down the runway in a rosy pink silk dress with a pleated skirt lined with stand-out layers of net, which made a lovely cocktail dress, and when she turned about she simply unbuttoned the dress and there was a brief-skirted pink swim suit! One tennis outfit was of cherry blossom pink linen and pink tennis shoes were worn, too. The California designers at this Eastern showing certainly proved that it is an excellent idea to buy a coordinated ensemble that can serve more than one purpose in a wardrobe which should be a good tip to Beach shoppers for summertime tops.

STUFF AND THINGS

Mamie Eisenhower literally threw her hat into the ring for charity a couple of weeks ago when she presented one of her fabulous hats to the Women's Advertising Club Ballroom for auctioning. It went to the highest bidder for two thousand dollars which will aid research for the American Cancer Society and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It was a royal blue French velvet sailor-type hat and the side was photographed "Mamie Doud Eisenhower...Pearls at any price, high or low, are noticed in the little lavish touch with gold filled and cultured pearl jewelry popularity. The gleam of jewel and precious metal speaks of the woman who knows the importance of detail in her jewelry accessories...The tulip silhouette, introduced this Spring by Dior, has been the inspiration for the latest hair-do. Very flattering, the tulip cut is a smooth crown with a petite tuft of curl at the side and a part half bang, giving a charming effect of an inverted tulip. Oleg Cassini believes that whatever the skirt—slender or full—"that emphasis must be on the bust. It's the old sex appeal" Oleg ought to know for each season he practices what he preaches by giving "the" most attractive bust line to his gowns. He's kept on the subject!

MOST ANCIENT INSTRUMENT
Probably the oldest of modern musical instruments is the flute.

The cave man knew and played any one of the instruments that cry from the strummed strings seen in modern orchestras. He carefully and painstakingly fashioned from the bones of birds or other small animal life. Not so modern, eh?

THANKS

The Virginia Beach Lions Club takes this opportunity to thank the people of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County for the support of its recent Broom Sale.

The club regrets however that it was unprepared for the overwhelming support the project received, and thus were unable to extend the privilege of purchasing a broom or door mat to every citizen of the two areas.

An even greater sale will be planned for next year. In the meantime the best possible use will be made of the money raised through the club's Sight Conservation and Blind projects.

Alan Ladd Still Sicks to Guns in Drive-in Movie

Alan Ladd has topped a veritable list of depicting crime since he started his way to fame as a pay-offster in one of his first seven films. However, the fact that his action and not homicide has been Ladd's movie specialty.

Shooting from both sides of the law over the past years, the rugged star has bagged a tremendous total of other victims, killing them with rifles, revolvers, pistols, submachine guns and any other steel instrument of destruction that was on hand.

Yet in the same period of time Ladd has not failed dramatically upon firearms in his recent movies. He has also earned up an impressive record of propelling his scores more of assorted agents. Now in his latest action-filled adventure film, Paramount's "Thriller in the East" opening Tuesday at the East at the Virginia Beach Drive In Theatre, Ladd continues in his inimitable brand of movie mayhem.

WHY GAS DOLLARS GO SO FAR IN THE FORD SIX

NO SIX-CYLINDER ENGINE IN ANY CAR AT ANY PRICE REDUCES GAS-WASTING ENGINE FRICTION SO EFFECTIVELY!

The main reason for Ford's high-compression Mileage Maker Six economy is that the pistons travel a shorter distance for every mile you travel. This means that less of the gas you buy goes to overcome piston friction (the major cause of engine friction). It also means that there is less engine wear... and so, your Ford will be worth more longer! Remember, Ford's Mileage Maker Six is the most modern of all Six-cylinder engines!

Coffee Alaska, a Baffling Dessert
With an Easy Answer

As a general rule, an air of mystery is hard to come by in the kitchen. It's best this, mix that, add something else. But sometimes you want to impress family and friends with your mastery of the culinary arts. That's the time to serve Coffee Alaska. It never fails to bring a mystified "how-is-it-done?" from the audience.
Coffee Alaska is a dessert that the average cook rarely undertakes because it looks so difficult. A crisply browned, meringue-coated cake, piping hot from the oven, reveals a frozen center—in this case frothy mocha cream. In spite of appearance, it is not hard to make. The secret is in a sufficiently thick meringue coating and scrupulously correct timing. With a little care, even an average cook can make this delectable dessert really well.
Lots of coffee is the thing to serve with Coffee Alaska—steaming, fragrant, and, above all, plentiful. And on the next day, you'll need exactly the same companion to go with an unexpected bonus, a light, sweet trifle made with the crumbs from the hollowed out cake.
Coffee Alaska
1 pkg. yellow cake mix
1 tablespoon cocoa
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup dark corn syrup
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup dark corn syrup
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
Prepare cake mix as directed on package. Bake in greased and floured loaf pan 9x5x3 inches in moderate oven, 350° F., 45-50 minutes.
Meringue
Beat 2 egg whites stiff but not dry. Gradually add 1 tablespoon sugar while continuing to beat. Beat until stiff and glossy.
Crumbs Cake Trifle
Combine crumbs from hollowed-out cake (about 3 cups), 1/2 cup each broken walnut meats, sliced marshmallows and drained crushed pineapple. Add enough Maraschino cherry juice to moisten (about 1/4 cup). Whip 1/2 cup heavy cream; fold in. Chill. Garnish with additional whipped cream and cherries if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Oceana PTA Aids School Library
The library committee of the Oceana P.T.A., headed by Mrs. F. W. Cox, has been quite active this year. They were responsible for $210.00 being added to the school library's meager budget. From this amount, many new books, newspapers, magazines, supplies, and other items were added to the collection. Also through their activity, interest has been aroused in the entire library program. Meeting with Mrs. L. B. Loving, the librarian, they have discussed general improvements in attractiveness of the room, as well as technical improvements and help needed.
Thursday morning, April 16th, the committee consisting of: Mrs. L. S. Hiteshaw, Mrs. R. V. Lackey, Mrs. Clyde Whitehead, and Mrs. F. W. Cox Chairman started a working in cooperation with the librarian. Each week they plan to meet in the library to help put new books on the shelves, and to repair other items. Working in an assembly line fashion, it has proved to be very beneficial and time saving for the librarian. The efforts of these ladies of the Oceana P.T.A. library committee, another step in school and patron relations has been made.
The Beta Club of Oceana High School won 2nd prize on their skit given at the Beta Club Convention in Richmond.

Elizabeth Taylor Stars in New Film

"The Girl Who Had Everything," new M-G-M drama opening at the Beach Theatre, has everything. It has a triple-threat of stars—Elizabeth Taylor, sky-rocketing Fernando Lamas, William Powell. It has an ace supporting cast headed by Gig Young and James Whitmore. It has action, thrills, intrigue, suspense and some of the most exciting love scenes ever shown on the screen. Its story, based upon a novel by Adele Rogers St. Johns and written for the screen by Art Cohn, moves from the lush horse-breeding country of Lexington, Kentucky, to scenes at a beautiful mountain lodge, with other sequences laid in New York City and Washington, D. C. There is a colorful auction of thoroughbreds; there's a vivid sequence depicting a congressional investigation hearing; there is gangland intrigue with murder in its wake.

Elizabeth Taylor comes to the new picture following her outstanding hit in "A Place in the Sun" and "Ivanhoe." As the society girl who becomes infatuated with a ruthless and dangerous gangster, she has the most dramatic role of her career. The gangland chief is enacted by Fernando Lamas, hailed as M-G-M's most exciting new acting find in years, and fresh from his triumph opposite Lana Turner in "The Merry Widow." In the role of Miss Taylor's lawyer-father, William Powell, one of the screen's all-time favorites, returns to his home lot for his first major assignment in more than four years. Gig Young, an Academy Award nominee for his work in "Come Fill the Cup," plays the role of Miss Taylor's rejected suitor. James Whitmore last seen in "Because You're Mine" and "Above and Beyond," plays a gangland power.

"The Girl Who Had Everything" was directed by Richard Thorpe, who has such recent hits to his credit as "Ivanhoe" and "The Prisoner of Zenda." It was produced by Armand Deutsch ("The Girl in White," "Carbine Williams").

GLEE CLUB, TEEN TONES, ENTERTAIN VETERANS

The students, George Aldridge, David Betts, Julia Wallace, Judy Taylor, Lucy Crisman, Betty Lou Cornick, Lena Hutsenpillar, Carol Lash, Marla Keys, Judy Lovell, and Gail Bales, were accompanied by their sponsor, Mrs. Julia Hudgins, and chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. George L. SIXTH GRADERS STUDY MEDIEVAL EUROPE

Miss Rebecca Hooper's sixth grade class has been engaged in a study of life in the Medieval Times in Europe. Since castles were so closely related to stories of fairy tale type the students were asked to bring in to the rest of the class, any story or legend which would illustrate their study. The students also studied life under the Feudal system, the life of a serf, old English laws, and the "Magna Carta."

One of the students had lived in England and reported on his impressions of the country. The students

OCEANA "JETS" START PLAY SOON

The residents of Oceana and all the surrounding communities will have the opportunity to see some excellent baseball this summer. The "Oceana Jets" will use the high school field for night baseball which will begin about May 10. "The Jets" have defeated the "Merrimacs" a number of times. This gives some indication of the class of ball that will be played.

There has been considerable improvement made on the field, making it one of the best ball parks in this area.

and research work in encyclopedias, and found some very good information on Castles in a "National Geographic" Magazine. The students have drawn pictures of Medieval homes, armor, and dress. They have studied the life of King Arthur and his knights of the Round Table. Pictures of the dress, weapons, armor, and castles were purchased for the classroom.

Miss Hooper's class is also conducting experiments in science concerning the growth of plants in rich and poor soil. Poor soil, of a composition, mostly sand, is being compared with grades of soil of increasing richness like the rich soil found in forests. Green pepper plants, and tomato seeds are the plants being used in the experiment. Hot beds have been prepared for starting plants which will require transplanting. The class hopes to raise tomato seedlings and wants to raise an Easter lily in their classroom.

CIVIL WAR BEING STUDIED BY 5th GRADE

Mrs. Tillie White's fifth grade has been recently engaged in a study of the causes, events, and prominent figures in the Civil War. The class has collected flags, hats, caps, and books concerning the War. One member of the class made a scale model of the Monitor and the Merrimac, and a small Merrimac is under construction.

The students have made reports on this subject and collected things which pertain to their topic. One of the most interesting of the articles collected was a sword and a gun, owned and used in the War Between the States by Robert Winslow.

The class went on to study such poems as "Barbara Fritch" and "The Blue and the Gray," the differences between the North and South, the Battle of Gettysburg, and the "Gettysburg Address." They are assembling the material gathered into booklets which will be used to evaluate the student's progress in the study.

The students invited Larry Bayless, a freshman at Virginia Beach High School, to speak to them on the Civil War. He showed them his books on the Civil War and spoke to them on several of the phases that they had not covered. Then he answered questions that the students asked. His talk added interest to their study of the period.

Cavalier Will Become Club On July First

Charles Hanks, president of the Cavalier Hotel, Corporation, announced this week that beginning July 1 the Cavalier Hotel, the Cavalier Inn and Cavalier Motel Club will begin operation as a private club.

The surprising announcement came after several years study of the change in status. It will place the Cavalier in the same category as many leading clubs on the east coast, particularly in Florida.

Before announcing the change the management canvassed more than 500 of its former guests and they showed a preference to the private club type of operation by about 85%. Many expressed a willingness to join the new club. Hanks said that he had felt for a long time that there is a place in the local tourist industry for such a private club and that inasmuch as the Cavalier has all the necessary facilities, the conversion was approved by the owners.

The move is also desired by Hanks, the fourth generation hotelier.

As the Cavalier Club, the resort hotel will become one of the largest seashore country clubs in the United States.

The program will parallel those in operation at the Flamingo Hotel, Miami Beach, Fla.; the Ponte Vedra, Ponte Vedra, Fla.; and the Shinnecock Club in the Poconos, N. Y.

Assisting in the management of the new venture there will be a 27-member board of governors, made up of prominent Virginia residents and headed by Gen. Joseph P. Battle, USA (Ret.), of Virginia Beach and Washington, D. C.

While the proposed change has been kept relatively quiet on the local front, the corporation's president disclosed that it has been in mind for several years and in the actual planning stage for as many months.

Nothing Too Good For Navy Vet

There is at least one ex-Navy Man who really misses the old Navy chow—and he wrote a letter yesterday to the Fifth Naval District Commandant, Rear Admiral I. N. Kiland, to tell him so.

The Hagerstown, Md., man received that galley recipes and chow hall menus he forwarded to him. "I find that I gained considerable weight while I was in," the ex-sailor laughed.

The Navy veteran told the admiral in his letter he would even be willing to pay for on board, cook, Navy model.

Menu data, sparked with such items as breaded pork chops, creamed potatoes, and French apple pie, was applied the hungry man by the District Public Information Office—no charge.

"Nothing" too good for a satisfied customer.

Reiterating his program to advance public education, Stanley advocated higher salaries for teachers. He applauded the Virginia Education Association's "Program

Solution Near in North End Water Supply Problem

The proposed water route that would relieve the serious water shortage for north Virginia Beach appears near solution since a joint meeting of the Virginia Beach City Council and the County's Board of Supervisors was held this week.

A temporary agreement was reached which would find the county strengthening the system from 63rd street north and the city renovating the system at the 42nd street pumping station.

The two governing bodies agreed that the measure was temporary, pending the outcome of annexation proceedings and measures which would bisect a water system that has left the area dry during peak summer months.

The Council and supervisors decided to unite in asking the Federal government either to turn over to the area the 12-inch, 500,000-gallon-per-day main which runs down Atlantic Avenue to Port City, or to allow them to tap onto it as an emergency measure.

North Virginia Beach residents, plagued by a short supply of water for the past three or four summers, recently voted to issue $550,000 in bonds to supply the area with water.

For the past two years they have been permitted to tap onto the Federal main, but the government felt that the emergency was long overdue and has refused further tapping.

The city and county have been in disagreement over the route of the proposed water line.

The county has a main running along a 12-inch, 500,000-gallon-per-day main at five miles, which would intersect with the Norfolk City main at Larkin Road and the Virginia Beach Boulevard, run east to Great Neck Road, then north to Albemarle, then east across Linkport Bay and Crystal Lake to intersect with the main at Atlantic Avenue.

The city wanted the route to come into the main pumping station of Virginia Beach at 15th Street, then northward to the sanitation district area.

Virginia Beach Mayor P. F. Murray said that the city is anxious to furnish water to the dry area, but that he realizes that all of the requirements the city recommended, such as a 300,000-gallon standby tank at the beach's north end, could not at this time be filled.

He said that the compromise (Continued on Page Three)

May 3-9 Set as Demonstration Week by President

Every year since 1946 the president of the United States has set aside one week each year to be observed as National Home Demonstration week. This year the week May 3-9 marks the time when thousands of club members will be recognized for their achievements, and tribute will be paid to local leaders whose contribution to improved home and community life is an integral part of home demonstration work.

The home demonstration movement began about fifty years ago when Extension pioneer Dr. Beamon A. Knapp said, "The home eventually controls the viewpoint of a man; and you may do all that you've a mind to in schools, but unless you reach in and get hold of that home and change its conditions you are nullifying the uplift of the school. We are reaching for the home."

The home demonstration club organization is an outgrowth of Dr. Knapp's philosophy. Through the forty-three years of organization of home demonstration clubs nearly five and one-half million women have joined clubs in their respective communities. There are fifteen clubs in Princess Anne County with a total membership of three hundred and fifty-six women.

Princess Anne County clubs plan to recognize members and leaders with exhibits of outstanding work in public places and by community programs.

The highlight of the week will be the District Federation of Home Demonstration clubs meeting Thursday, May 7th in Nanamond County at the Planters Club at Drives. More than one hundred and fifty Princess Anne County club members have indicated they expect to attend the one day's meeting from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Idea Maude Wallace, assistant director of the VPI Agricultural Extension Service said general objectives of the observance which has the theme "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" are as follows: to emphasize the importance of the home in the development of values basic to democratic society; to strengthen the concept of local planning that underlies Extension Service program and to acquaint home makers with the Extension Service and the avenues through which the home demonstration may serve their needs.

The program for the District meeting includes reports of State and County organizations, two speakers, and a pageant depicting the beginning and the development up through fifty years of Extension work in Virginia.

Gary, Indiana, is the creation of the United States Steel corporation, which in 1905, bought a tract of 800 acres there, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The supervisors meeting Monday also heard Dr. W. Y. Garrett, county health officer, with W. A. Wood, supervising sanitarian, making consideration of measures to provide adequate sanitation in the new large housing developments in the county.

Garrett said the problem immediately arose from a housing development, proposing 564 houses on which soil conditions were such that septic tanks could not drain properly, according to preliminary tests.

Further tests showed that adequate drainage and maintenance would have to be required or the system would break down.

Garrett also asked the supervisors to consider a proposal for services to medically indigent children in the county.

the health board and asked that they inquire into the Federal Hill-Burton assistance program whereby Federal and State funds provide 55 percent of the financing of such facilities.

He estimated the cost of such a building at about $50,000.

Another proposal before the meeting was for consideration of the renovation of the court house with additions and air conditioning.

The King's Daughters Society asked for an appropriation of $3,870 for the coming year for services to medically indigent children in the county.

Mrs. Brickhouse is chairman of the T. B. Seal Sale Committee for the state and will preside at the meeting.

HOW TO BROIL A STEAK

Oven broil these cuts of Colonial Pride Beef (U. S. Choice or Prime): Chub, Sirloin, T-bone, Sirloin, tenderloin, porterhouse, or top round.

Slash the fat edge of steak so it won't curl during broiling. Preheat broiling oven and broiling pan. Rub broiler with a piece of trimmed-off fat to prevent meat sticking. Lay steak on broiler and adjust so top of steak is 2 to 4 inches from source of heat.

For a thick steak, very browned outside and very rare inside, place steak 3 inches below heat. If you wish it well done, place 4 inches away. For 1 inch steaks, place steak just 2 inches from heat source.

Broiling time: For medium rare, a 1 inch thick steak requires 6 minutes per side; a 1½ inch thick steak 10 minutes per side; a 2 inch thick steak 16 minutes per side. This is the most taken directly from the refrigerator. For rare steaks, subtract 2 minutes from cooking time for each side.

For specific recipes, homecoming or cooking information, write to Mrs. Nancy Carter, Director of Home Economics, Colonial Stores, Inc., P. O. Box 4128, Norfolk, Va.

Kempville Devils Win Over Creeds

On Friday, April 24, the Creeds Indians and the Kempville Blue Devils played a very close ball game. In the first inning, Creeds got 3 runs, but Kempville recovered 2 of them when they were at bat, with the aid of 3 errors. In the second, Creeds picked up 3 more runs. The Blue Devils were held scoreless.

The third was fruitless for the Indians, while the Blue Devils got 2 runs. In the fourth both teams got 1 run each. Creeds ran was a homer by Williamson.

The fifth inning, was in favor of the Blue Devils. They got 2 runs, while the Indians only got 1. The sixth was fruitless to both.

Going into the seventh, Creeds had a 1 run lead. But 4 errors on Williamson and Whitehurst allowed Kempville to get 2 runs, which won the ballgame. This gives Creeds a conference standing of 2 losses and 1 win.

Contract Let for Little Creek Piers

The Diamond Construction Company, of Norfolk, was awarded a $2,756,747 Navy contract for the construction of small craft piers at the Amphibious Base, Little Creek. It was announced this week.

The work is part of a projected $29,000,000 development program at the base, about half of which has been contracted for. The contract awarded to Diamond today calls for the construction of piers, ramps and quays in the Desert Cove area. The construction will begin April 23, 1954, and be completed July 23, 1954, according to the contract.

Already under way at the Little Creek base are landing ship tank piers, at an estimated contract figure of $1,500,000. McLean Contracting Company is doing the work.

The Desert Cove area, east of the Little Creek ferry channel, is being dredged to a depth of 10 feet for small craft by the Norfolk Dredging Company. That project has some $3,000,000 in dredging contracts at the Amphibious Base now, including Fisherman's Cove, Little Creek Cove, and Little Creek Channel.

The Navy spokesman, who reported that about one half of the $29,000,000 Little Creek development was now contracted for, noted that the work involved is primarily pier construction and dredging.

Remaining to be awarded are contracts for personnel and operational facilities, such as barracks, administration and operations buildings and classrooms. He estimated that the balance of the $29,000,000 program would be contracted for by late this summer.

New Resident To Give Blood

It was at a neighborhood coffee that Mrs. George Callingham heard of the periodic visit of the Civilian club sponsored Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit that is next due in Virginia Beach June 19. Without letting the day end Mrs. Callingham hastened to sign up for an appointment to donate a pint of blood. Mrs. Callingham, the wife of Cdr. George R. Callingham, English Royal Navy, a member of the planning division of NATO under Admiral Lynde McCormick in Norfolk, well knows the importance of the blood program. During the war years in England she rarely missed the opportunity of contributing when that nation was so in need of blood for both civilians and fighting men. The Callinghams are in the process of moving from 8106 Ocean Front where they have lived for nearly a year to 53rd and Holly Road. They have a small daughter, Lucinda, who was born in England shortly before their coming here for a stated two year tour of duty. At present the Callinghams have as a guest, Cdr. Callingham's mother, Mrs. Leslie G. Callingham, of Surrey, England, whose stay will be of several months duration.

BROWNIE TRIP TOLD BY MEMBER OF TROOP

Our Brownie Troop No. 212 went on a cakout at the Azalea Gardens on April 14.

One of the trails we went on was Turtle Trail. We saw turtles in the lake. They were very black with yellow spots in their heads. We saw water lilies in the lake that were not in bloom yet.

After our hike, we roasted hot dogs and marshmallows, and made "Sem-Mores" on graham crackers. Mr. Tate took our picture. We had a lot of fun and would like to go again some time.

Trachinids in the United States totaled 115 in 1900. In 1951 the U.S. was one.

Trachinids often attack fishing creeps, making them drop fish they have caught and then seizing the food but sometimes a group of creeps will attack an eagle and drive it out of the neighborhood.

Jaycees to Aid In Civil Defense

The Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County Junior Chamber of Commerce has offered its services as an organization to the Virginia Beach Civil Defense program. It was revealed Wednesday by Reeves E. Johnson, civilian defense coordinator for Virginia Beach.

The offer was received in the form of a letter from Willard W. Washburn, vice-president of the Jaycees. A Jaycee committee met with Johnson this week to set up a project that the group may undertake to augment the civil defense program.

Gable and Tierney Show How Films Should be Made

No more reassuring word or deed could have come from Hollywood in times like these than this solidly built and beautifully crafted object lesson in how to make a good motion picture. In a vehicle especially tailored to his talents and reputation, Clark Gable, the imperishable, proves again that he is the old pro. Gene Tierney's warm beauty is shown as its lushest best; producer Clarence Brown has added the professional polish and the craftsman's touch; and director Delmer Daves has added the stagecraft that keeps the suspenseful story on the direct line of audience interest.

There are no frills, only substantial story, a handy and top-cal villain, good dialogue, a touch of comedy in the right places, tender love, suspense, a chase and a smash finish, all wrapped up in a plain but solid package designed to make any audience feel they have been entertained.

The story is as topical as today's headlines, entirely fictional but based on and duplicated by hundreds of parallel experiences involving the Iron Curtain. Gable, an American correspondent in Moscow during the war, falls in love with and marries Tierney, a member of the state ballet company. When his dispatches displease the Kremlin he is forced to leave without his wife. When diplomatic pressures and press influences fail to free Miss Tierney, Gable takes matters into his own hands, embarks on a dangerous small boat trip to kidnap her, and snatches her from under the eyes and runs of the NKVD and the Soviet Army.

There is slight contriving in the plot device which leads to the successful kidnapping but it is excusable in view of the overall tautness of the story.

Top credits are due to all concerned but especially to Miss

Tierney, who here appears in a warm and appealing role to which she does full justice. Also the screen play by Ronald Millar and George Froeschel is noteworthy for its authenticity and psychologically truthful portrayal of post-war Russia and the Russians.

Demonstration Clubs of County Complimented

Chas. Ferguson, Washington, D. C., complimented local leaders in Home Demonstration work by letter received at the office of the local agent, Miss Jane Craig, Princess Anne, Va.

The letter follows:

"As we observe the eighth National Home Demonstration Week throughout the Nation from May 3 to 9, may I compliment you. You are giving freely of our time and effort to help your neighbors, your community and your family build a better America. Together you are helping to make the American home a place where children can grow physically, mentally, morally and spiritually, where families can live in comfort and happiness.

"I like the way in which one farm woman has described the kind of home you are helping to achieve: 'The home is the foundation of a nation, and when that home is managed by a well-informed homemaker who cooks well-balanced meals, clothes her family with well-fitted garments, and furnishes her home with care and good taste, we have a strong foundation. If within this home the rights of each are respected and he teach and live love of home, country, fellow men, and God, we have the homemaker's ultimate goal. A nation with these homes will be prosperous, respected by other nations, and a blessing to the world."

"There is no greater influence on human behavior in our society than this environment of our homes. You have shown that you, too, believe this as you continue to emphasize your theme, 'Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World.'

"In the challenging days ahead, perhaps it will be well for all of us to think through, thoughtfully and prayerfully, the ways in which we can more fully meet our responsibilities to the home and the community. That is the base from which we can go forward to new achievements; where we can develop the talents, knowledge, and skills to keep America free from want and the yoke of dictation.

"Sincerely yours,
C. M. Ferguson
Director of Extension Work"

Playing in Streets Dangerous for Younger Children

Since three out of four traffic accidents to school children involve playing in or near the street, this month's traffic safety lesson in area schools will stress the rule of "Play Away from Traffic." John B. Dey, Vice President of the Tidewater Auto Association said today in announcing distribution of May AAA safety material to teachers.

"Studies in Washington and Philadelphia showed that in some 70 per cent of traffic accident cases involving school children five to fourteen years of age, the play factor was involved," Mr. Dey explained. "This month's safety educational posters, lesson guides, and color-in sheets, produced by the American Automobile Association for nationwide use, give teachers practical aids for stressing the need to play in safe places away from traffic."

"Parents have a big responsibility, too, in seeing that their children do not play in or near traffic, and are protected from its hazards," Mr. Dey added. "Not only should they remind children about street traffic dangers, but best of all, provide safe play places in back yards and vacant lots and make them attractive to children by approving play apparatus."

"One of the features of this month's kit of material being provided teachers is an attractive poster drawn by Rudy Doehrmann of Foreman High School, Chicago, Illinois, which was a first-place winner in the High National AAA School Safety Poster Contest."

More Than 500 People Gather at Memorial Cross for Services

Sunny skies and fair Virginia weather favored the annual pilgrimage to the Cape Henry Memorial Cross Sunday and more than 500 patriotic persons gathered at the landing site here to pay homage to the Jamestown settlers. The Order of Cape Henry 1607, with Mrs. Francis Naylor as president, sponsored this year's observance of the landing of the first permanent English settlers in America 346 years ago. The services were presented under the auspices of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia. The Rev. Carter Harrison, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, delivered the sermon.

Highlighting ceremonies at the Memorial Cross, marking the first landing date, was the American Service conducted this year by Chaplain Robert Hunt in 1607. The Rt. Rev. George P. Gurn, D.D., bishop of the diocese; The Rt. Rev. William A. Brown, D.D., retired bishop; and the Rev. Edmund H. Reilly, Chaplain Episcopal Church, Virginia Beach, participated in the service.

"April Showers make May Flowers," isn't that what they say? Well they bring strawberries too. The luscious red berries are coming of market now and a few are ripening right now in good old Princess Anne County. Soon they will be looking right at us from every fruit shelf in all the stores and that's the best news I could possibly tell you. Strawberry shortcake — strawberry pie and all sorts of wonderful strawberry desserts. Don't forget how good they are heaped high in a big bowl with sugar and cream — an old-fashioned, shortcake made like grandmother used to make, I'm sure would please your family, so lets make one. Make pastry, using 2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup sugar 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-3 cup salad oil, 2-3 cup milk. Measure oil in cup to 1-3 mark fill cup with milk, then mix with dry ingredients that have been sifted together three times. Roll out 1-4 inch thick and cut in squares about 2 1-2 inches. Bake in 400 degree oven until golden brown. Make shortcakes by putting slices and sugar strawberry between squares and do be generous, top with whipped cream and some whole strawberries.

I've talked a great deal during the past year about chicken and I still have something to tell you about the good old all-American — All-Season, All-Purpose Bird. It is grown in every state and county, its eggs are a mainstay in the great American diet. As good chicken is versatile, economical and nutritionally satisfying. Chicken can be cooked in many attractive and delicious dishes.

You know, scientific breeding, feeding and marketing have brought to us a new meat-type chicken. It is plumper and much more tender than the chicken we used to get. Chicken is available now everyday in the year.

Modern processing and distribution supply chicken for us in such convenient forms as fresh ice-packed, frozen, canned — fresh cut up — and quick frozen either whole or cut up. The Poultry and Egg National Board have compiled the favorite chicken recipes of the governors of our forty-eight states and we are so glad that all of our governors like chicken.

Governor Earl Warren of California like chicken. Fricassee with dumplings and here is Mrs. Warren's recipe for his favorite chicken dish.

- 2-3 young chickens
- 1-2 teaspoons salt
- 1-4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 cup each — onion, carrot and celery
- 4 tablespoons butter or chicken fat
- 4 tablespoons flour
- Juice of 1-2 lemon
- 1 can mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley

Disjoint and cut chicken into pieces for serving, add salt, pepper and enough boiling water to cook slowly for one hour. Add vegetables, bayleaf and continue cooking until vegetables are tender about 1-2 hour. Remove chicken strain broth. To make gravy blend fat with flour and add 3 cups broth. Cook until smooth, stirring constantly, simmer about 5 minutes, then add lemon juice and mushrooms (drained) and parsley. Season more if needed. Replace chicken in the gravy and simmer.

For the dumplings stir together 2 cups flour 4 teaspoons Baking Powder 1-2 teaspoons salt.

Cream in 2 tablespoons butter. Add 2 eggs, well beaten.

Then scout 1-2 cup milk.

Blend until consistency of heavy batter. Heat remaining broth to boil.

DAY-MURPHY

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Mildred Murphy to Mr. Robert Day, both of Oceana. The wedding took place Sunday, April 26, at Virginia Beach. After a wedding trip to Daytona Beach, Florida, the couple will reside at Oceana.

ing and drop batter by spoonfuls into it. Cover closely and cook 15 minutes with removing lid. Serve with chicken and gravy.

Now for our governor of Virginia's favorite chicken recipe.

Governor John S. Battle likes chicken Brunswick stew.

1 plump chicken 3 to 4 lbs
2 cups diced potatoes
2 cups fresh corn
cups tomatoes
1 tablespoon salt
1-4 lb salt pork
1-2 cup chopped onions
2 cups green lima beans
1 hot red pepper pod
1-2 teaspoon black pepper

Cut chicken as for frying. Dice salt pork and place with seasoning and chicken in large kettle with enough cold water to cover. Bring slowly to a boil, simmer until meat drops off bones. Remove bones and add potatoes, onions and lima beans. Cook until vegetables are well done. Add tomatoes and fresh corn, cook 30 minutes longer. Stir frequently, do not let scorch. If thick stew is desired — Cook until of consistency desired. Careful now, not to fast, it will surely scorch and then the stew will be ruined. Frozen or canned vegetables may be substituted — however a delicate flavor comes from using all fresh vegetables.

Sounds good doesn't it? That's all for this time — by new — see you next week.

GREEN-YOUNG VOWS ARE EXCHANGED

The marriage of Miss Gay Randolph Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Weems Young, of Belle Haven, to Berrymann Green IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berrymann Green III of Alexandria took place last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the Old Presbyterian Meeting House in Alexandria. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Joseph Dana of Washington, in the presence of relatives and friends. The candle-lit church was decorated with smilax, white snapdragons, lilac and stephanotis.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white silk organza over white satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice with an embroidered round neck of English tulle edged in seed pearls and short skirted sleeves. The very full skirt of satin fell in folds tapering into a sweeping train. Her medium-length veil of imported Venetian lace, brought from Europe by her mother, was arranged in a simple cap effect. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of white ranunculus, lily of the valley and miniature Debrah pink rose buds.

Mrs. Myles Bernard Colbranson, sister of the bride was matron of honor. She wore a very full white length gown of white silk organza over white taffeta. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of blue and white delphinium centered with pink rose buds.

Miss Mary Warfield Young, another sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her dress and flowers were identical to those of

After the ceremony a reception was given at the Belle Haven Country Club. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Green left by motor for a wedding trip through the Southern States and upon their return will reside in the Huntington Terrace Apts. in Alexandria. The bride wore for traveling a light weight navy wool suit with a navy straw cloche, navy accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Those from the Beach who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Rufus S. Kight Jr. and Mrs. Scott Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ashburn and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Kyle of Alantown.

Girl Scout Rally at Matoaka Saturday

Senior and Intermediate Girl Scouts of Princess Anne County have planned an all day rally and holiday at Camp Matoaka, their District summer camp near Suffolk, on Saturday, May 2nd, from 9:00 a. m. until 5:30 p. m.

Buses will leave Virginia Beach Bus Station, Chesapeake Beach Community House (9:00 a. m.), and Kempsville School (9:15 a. m.), with stops along the way for Lynnhaven, etc. All Scouts must have parent permission before boarding the bus and each troop is responsible for its own lunch (nosebag or cook-out). These annual outings are always looked forward to with great anticipation by the Scouts as the day is crisscrossed full of outdoor activities, such as hiking, games, nature study on trails, and cookouts. All Scouts interested in making this trip should advise their Leader who, in turn, will contact Miss Jean Baldwin, local Girl Scout Director. Reservations must be in by Thursday, April 30.

Local Brownie Troops are planning a get-together and pet show on Saturday, May 9th, from 9:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. at Camp Linkhorn Day Camp, Pinewood Road, Virginia Beach. Any Brownie may enter their pet, but pets must be in boxes or cages, except dogs which must be on leashes. All interested in entering the contest should inform their Leader by Thursday, May 7th, 5:00 p. m. A program also has been arranged with group singing and games. Girls do not have to enter pets to attend this rally and show. Troop Leaders will furnish transportation to Camp Linkhorn.

The Leaders last meeting of the year will be held at Camp Linkhorn on Wednesday, May 6th, 10:30 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. All Leaders are urged to attend as a cook-out will be held and a treat is in store for all corners. Swimming classes are again offered this year at the Cavalier Pool. Arrangements should be made with Mr. Bill Murphy at the Cavalier, or with Mrs. A. H. Hood, Va. Beach 398-M.

Girls who are fourteen years old and over and who have won their swimmer's badge may assist in these classes. All interested in this project should contact Mrs. Hood who has a special offer for them. It is our hope that in late September a water pageant can be held for the benefit of parents and friends by the Scouts who have participated in these classes.

A scheme to build a telegraph line across the Bering Strait to link America with the Asiatic land mass was abandoned in the 1960s when the Atlantic cable proved a success.

Blue Devils Lose To Suffolk Nine

Suffolk High School continued its jinx over Kempsville on April 17th at the Blue Devil Stadium by edging ahead in the first half of the eighth inning 5-7. Kempsville's downfall came on close calls on the base paths. Holland and Andrews carried the big sticks for Suffolk, while Holland, the Suffolk Southpaw sent six Blue Devil batters down via strikeouts.

The host nine was led at the plate by Pete Miller, Carlton Shrieves, and Spud Jackson. Pete Miller, veteran second-sacker, hit a four-bagger with no one aboard in the fifth inning, and two singles, Shrieves and Jackson.

The new members participating in the ceremony will be chosen from the following group of students: Seniors: Patsy Tree, Betty Hester, Barbara Whitehead, Alma Rea, Shirley Humphries, Pierce Jackson, Anne Newlin, Fred Noll, Carolyn Norfleet, Tuffy Parsons, Pat Saunders, Jo Ann Thompson, Donna Leigh Dorris, Carol Hester, Ruth Meisel, Mildred Brinkley, Bobby Stevenson, Caree Beasley, Bo Bo Diphoye, and Doris Hubbard.
